MISSING ON WEDDING DAY

Police Seek Daniel Foley, Who Was to Have Become Bridesmaid This Afternoon

Mrs. Mary L. Nagel, Bride-to-Be, Fears He Has Met With Foul Play

With all in readiness for the nuptials to be solemnized today, uniting Mrs. Mary L. Nagel of 599 Merriman street in this city, and Daniel Foley of 314½ San Pablo avenue, a wealthy contractor from Spokane, Wash., the groom has suddenly disappeared and the police of the bay region have been asked to search for him. Foley had $300 on his person and considerable jewelry. Mrs. Nagel fears foul play, and is making every effort to locate her affianced.

Foley disappeared August 10, but Mrs. Nagel delayed informing the police as she hoped that he would return, and she feared the publicity. All preparations had been made for the wedding, which was to have taken place today. The bride-elect had prepared her trousseau, and had received several presents in the form of dainty dresses and travelling equipment from Foley, who lavished his money freely while in Oakland. According to Mrs. Nagel they had been engaged to be married for the past three years.

Foley is a man of 60 years of age, but well-preserved. He is well known in Washington and Oregon, but came to Oakland early in August to claim his bride, and was not familiar with this city. Mrs. Nagel, who is a woman of middle age, stated that Foley may have been out celebrating his approaching marriage, and may have fallen into the hands of robbers and thieves who have either drugged or imprisoned him. She is prostrated with anxiety over the mysterious disappearance of the man.

$23,000 IN BANK.

When he disappeared Foley had in his possession not only the $200 in gold but a bank book showing an account with the Canadian and Montreal bank of Spokane, with a balance on hand of $23,000. He also carried some jewelry.

The police have been making a careful investigation of the case. Inspectors H. E. Green and William Kyle having been detailed to trace the man. They have discovered that apparently in preparation for the honeymoon trip, he kept his suitcase packed in readiness to leave Oakland, and this has also disappeared. Whether he went on a side trip is not known, but the people at the lodging house can give no account of the whereabouts of the man, as Foley stated simply that he was going to Portland.

That the groom-to-be, having sailed a lone course for some sixty years, may have suddenly come to fear the embankment on the sea of matrimony, with its reputed possibility of sinking, is a theory advanced by the police to account for the disappearance of the wealthy contractor. Mrs. Nagel scorns this suggestion, however, and avers that she believes that Foley, if he is alive, is still true to her.

MET THREE YEARS AGO.

That they met some three years ago and became engaged, and have been corresponding since that time, is the meagre account of the courtship given by the engaged bride to the police. Foley came to Oakland with the intent of marrying

Oakland Directors Confess Award of the Heating Contracts Was Illegal; Plead Excuses

POINTS OUT TECHNICAL DEFECTS

"The contracts did not correspond with the specifications, as there were technical defects in them and were illegal," said Director Annie Florence Brown in refusing to vote favorably upon the bids awarded by the Board of Education. "That is why I voted against the three contracts, which the board granted. I'm not in favor of doing business that way. Last week I wanted to know why the bidders, who tore to pieces the report of the expert, who passed on their bids the previous meeting, united in asking the board to adopt them. It did not appeal to me as being the right thing to do. Perhaps these wise men on the board who voted for the awards can state their reasons for granting the contracts, which they knew were illegal."

Despite the fact that four members of the local board of education knew that the award of the heating and ventilating contract to Robert Dalzell Jr. was illegal and were asked to rescind the contract, by Attorney J. P. Montgomery last evening at the regular meeting of the board in the City Hall Annex, Eighteenth and Broadway, they voted to proceed with the work on the Elmhurst Grammar school and permit the Dalzell company to carry out the $6000 contract. The other two contracts, which were let at the last regular session, which had not been awarded, were also declared illegal by the district attorney as they did not comply with the specifications.

Director Annie Florence Brown and Calvin M. Orr, president of the board, stood alone in refusing to allow the bids last week, because of their defects. Miss Brown urged at the last session that the board re-advertise for the bids but it

Autoist Crushed to Death
When Train Hits Machine

FRESNO, Aug. 18.—George F. Church, a well known vineyardist and uncle of District Attorney Church of this city, was almost instantly killed this morning when a train crashed into an automobile he was driving. He was coming into town at the Tehama street crossing from his ranch and when he attempted to cross the tracks his automobile engine went dead. At the time the passenger train locomotive was but 100 feet away, going at a rate of twenty miles an hour and the engineer was unable to slow up perceptibly. The machine was demolished and Church was thrown forty feet. He breathed his last after he had been picked up and placed on board the train, which was brought to a halt when the tragedy occurred.

Deceased leaves a wife and family. A sad feature in connection with the affair is the critical illness of his brother, John Church, a furniture dealer, who was operated upon by a San Francisco specialist Sunday for cancer. His recovery is doubtful.

Fear for Kermit Roosevelt
Is Proven Ungrounded

YUMA, Ariz., Aug. 18.—Incipient fears for the safety of Kermit Roosevelt and his hunting party in Lower California and Sonora on account of Mexican political unrest were allayed today when C. H. Utting, clerk of the District Court, returned with word that the former President's son was having a good time slaying mountain sheep, and that the movement of any proposed rescue parties would return only in annoying and embarrassing him. Utting said young Roosevelt, with his Mexican packers and guides, began hunting south of the boundary last Saturday, and today were in the Pinacate mountains, about sixty miles southeast. He is notwithstanding desert hardships well and on last Monday carried the hide and skeleton of a sheep three miles to camp on his back.

BERKELEY, Aug. 18.—Mrs. Thomas B. Rickey, society woman, wife of a well known San Francisco broker, and secretary of the women's auxiliary of the

She was stepping hastily across the smooth hardwood floor of the reception hall at the artistic Rickey residence in the Claremont hills when one of her feet slipped and she fell swooning to the floor. Mrs. Rickey had been taking an active interest in the plans of the Claremont club, which was recently organized by the men and women residents of that district. A handsome clubhouse is to be erected by the organization, of which Mrs. Rickey is one of the auxiliary officers.

TIE-UP ON CITY HALL IS TEMPORARILY AVERTED

Conference Will Be Held Next Monday Between Mayor, Contractors and Union Men.

Temporary arrangements have been made to avert a tie-up of work on the new city hall, and the work will continue till Monday, when an arbitration conference will be held to settle the matter if possible. An attempt was made to gain a settlement of the difficulties between the contractors and the union men last night, but Frank Bilger, of the Blake and Bilger Company, who holds a subcontract from the Roebling Construction Company, was out of town, and only temporary arrangements were made.

The carpenters, steel workers and concrete workers have consented to remain on the work until Monday, when it is probable that Mayor Mott will ask all the contractors connected with the new city hall as well as representatives of the Building Trades Council, to meet with him to work out a solution to the difficulties.

In the meanwhile arrangements have been made for the teaming to be done by union men. The settlement will possibly be made by concessions on the part of the contractors.

"Nothing will be allowed to delay the work if there is any possible way to get around the difficulty," declared Superintendent of Construction J. J. Mott this morning. "We have agreements with all the contractors on the work that will make it difficult for us to be hindered by labor troubles, and no contractor will be permitted to evade the agreements.

The union men have been very fair-minded in this matter, and we hope for an amicable settlement Monday."

House Fails to Pass Wool Tariff Bill Over Taft Veto

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—A motion made late this afternoon in the house to pass the wool tariff revision bill over president's veto lost by a vote of 227 to 129, a two-thirds vote being required.

Democratic Leader Underwood moved that the house, on reconsideration, pass the bill over the president's veto. A three hours' debate followed. Representative Lenroot said the veto was based on ignorance, not information. Representative James denounced Taft's veto as a "bold, flagrant defiance of the will of the American people." He declared Taft would go down in history as the first president of the United States who ever opposed his "ponderous conspiracy" against the will of the people.

Taft's message vetoing the so-called farmers' free list bill was read in the House this afternoon.

Chaos Rules in Liverpool Where Stranded Americans Vainly Try to Leave the Country; Government Is Blamed for the Great Strike

50,000 SOLDIERS TO SHOOT TO KILL ARRIVE IN LONDON IN CASE OF RIOT

Some 50,000 troops arrived in London during the night, and early morning found them encamped at posts where they were able to protect the lines of communications.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The fight between the railroad companies and their striking union employees is on in dead earnest today. Thousands have obeyed the strike order and other thousands have continued to work. The companies are operating their principal trains under modified schedules.

The government and the board of trade are continuing their efforts toward peace, but the old deadlock between the unions and the managers appears to have reasserted itself. Managers had a prolonged meeting with the members of the board of trade but the railroad companies declined to budge from their stand of making no further concessions beyond submitting the dispute to the royal commission as suggested by the government.

Chief Cities Are Armed Camps.

The chief cities of England are armed camps. The stations, workshops, signal posts, tunnels and bridges are guarded by soldiers. Clerks have been pressed in service to aid the non-strikers in moving trains. Freight traffic is demoralized and the shortage of food supplies threatens a famine at some points.

There has been rioting at Birmingham, Derby, Sheffield and at Llanelli, Wales.

The government views the industrial war as so grave that parliament did not adjourn as had been expected today but will continue prepared to adopt any emergency legislation the moment it is necessary.

Thousands Are Stranded.

This evening the trains in London were moving occasionally but had scarcely any effect in reducing the masses of would-be travelers. Thousands living outside were unable to get home.

A large number of bluejackets from the warships at Portsmouth were ordered to stand by with a view to the possibility of having to land to replace the garrison troops which have been ordered into the strike area.

The strike committee has decided to pay the strikers $2.50 a week. The board of trade's peace negotiations are still in progress at 6:30 this evening, but the prospects of an immediate truce were admittedly unpromising. Through the railroads were by no means tied up, service was chaotic, despite the presence of troops with fixed bayonets.

50,000 Troops Enter London.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—At noon the strike ordered last night by the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servant and allied organizations of employees had been a partial success. Some of the railway lines were operating few trains, while on other roads the service continued practically normal.

The military held possession of the stations along the lines to protect men desiring to work and to guard the property of the companies.

Meantime the government continues its efforts to avert the general stoppage of the transportation service. Sydney Buxton, president of the Board of Trade, who had an early morning call from Viscount Richard D. Haldane, secretary of state for war, again met the railroad managers and the officials of the union to consider the government's suggestion for the appointment of a royal commission which should investigate and report what amendments, if any, should be made to the conciliation agreement now existing between the owners and the employees as explained by Chancellor David Lloyd-George in the House of Commons last night.

When the suggestion of a royal commission was made by Premier Asquith yesterday it was accepted by the managers, but rejected by the men who felt that such an arrangement would mean a long delay in the adjustment of their grievances. The chancellor explained that the men had misunderstood the premier's proposal. It was intended, he said, to give them fair play and not "to lure out of their hands the great weapon of striking."

Many Reluctant to Strike

This statement had much to do with preventing a more general "response to the leaders" call for a strike. Many even of the union men were reluctant to quit so long as there was a possibility of their grievances being considered by an impartial body.

Some 50,000 troops arrived in London during the night and early morning found them encamped at posts where they were able to protect the lines of communications. Should the strike become general the soldiers could help but little in the movement of trains, as there are only three railway companies of royal engineers. They, however, are able to protect the roads and the men working.

Ordered to Shoot to Kill

There is to be no firing over the heads of the mob in case of a riot, but after the riot act has been read, ball cartridges, with 100 rounds, of which each soldier has been supplied, are to be used.

The troops were placed chiefly in the passenger and freight depots and at the signal boxes, some of which have already been disconnected by wire-cutting and attacked by stone-throwers; and at the tunnels, bridges and workshops. Six hundreds men guarded the general postoffice.

A little group of uniformed men from the signal corps took up a station in the dome of St. Paul's cathedral from which they kept the districts in touch with the general staff at the war office.

Scarcely any of the railway lines centering at London offered a complete service and even the underground and tube systems were affected to some extent.

Tube System Tied Up

London's elaborate underground system, including the Metropolitan district railways, had difficulty in operating because of a strike of 200 men at one station, Eastham, through which no trains could pass. Thus at times traffic was held up for a considerable period.

The union leaders this afternoon expressed themselves satisfied with the response to the strike order. They claimed that 200,000 men had quit work.

James H. Fry Thomas, labor member of parliament for Derby and assistant secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, asserted that the strikers had almost paralyzed the whole railway system of the United Kingdom. The government proposal for a royal commission was considered by a joint committee of the railway societies during the forenoon, but the men did not change their position that the managers must deal directly with them.

The Great Western Railway and the Great Central Railway appeared to be the most seriously affected. The officials of the former line candidly confirmed their inability to afford the usual service, but asserted that the modified schedule drawn up when the strike threatened was working smoothly. Troops were in control of their London station at Paddington, while the police and troops guarded the signal boxes and locomotive and car works.

The Great Western has four principal routes covering the territory from Dover and London to Liverpool and connecting the ocean ports with London, South Wales, the Midlands and the west of England. It possesses largest mileage of any railway in the United Kingdom, the company owning 2,525 miles of road and partly owning 242 miles more.

Only one train came in over the Great Central railway this morning. This road operates 836 miles, its branches reaching Liverpool and Manchester.

The other lines were getting their trains in and out of the city, and those running to the south coast were selling return tickets and continued some of their excursion trains, though they abandoned a part of the suburban service. Many roads during the night cleared well lines of perishables by running freight trains at passenger speed.

Early in the day word came from Birmingham that West England was completely cut off. Passenger trains on the Midland railway in other directions were running as usual, but freight traffic on some branches had been stopped.

Chaos Is Complete

There was some disorder at Birmingham. At Manchester business was at a standstill and the teamsters were still out today, while at Liverpool the chaos was complete.

With the exception of a few incoming trains, all of which were late, the train service at Liverpool was practically suspended. The three passenger stations in that city were besieged by passengers and the platforms were piled high with baggage belonging chiefly to Americans who had gone there with the hope of securing passage to America on outgoing liners. The companies finally discontinued selling tickets.

Throughout Wales there was almost a total stoppage of traffic. No trains were able to get through to Fishguard. Strikers took possession of the railway line, at Llanelly, a seaport of Wales, and repulsed the police who attempted to drive them off. At several small places in Wales signal boxes were burned.

May Tie Up Scotland

Some 200 men employed on the Caledonian railroad went out and efforts were made to bring about a general strike in Scotland. Threat to call a general strike of teamsters is thought not likely to be enforced, as the men appear satisfied with the settlement recently reached.

At Preston station the police escorted boxes containing strike pay from the station to the offices of the union.

Blames Government

Addressing a meeting arranged by the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants today, Assistant Secretary Thomas blamed the government for the strike and strongly appealed to all railroad men to join in the great fight for emancipation. The speaker deplored the rioting, and added:

I am not going to boast without knowing that what I am saying is so. Scotland is already cut off. Railway traffic in Wales is absolutely stopped. There is no railway communication between Britain and the colonial ports and within another five hours the whole railway system of the United Kingdom will be stopped. The railroad unions are unanimous and they mean to fight to a finish.

For some time past the railroad companies have been preparing for difficulties and engaging duplicate staffs. They claim already to have a large number of "understudies" in the places of the strikers. Living and sleeping accommodations for these men have been provided within all stations.

Thousands Are Idle

Lack of wagons to move coal necessitated the closing down of several collieries, thus adding thousands to the ranks of the idle ones.

Some of the provincial railway staffs have been so reduced that clerks are acting as firemen and guards, while inspectors are driving locomotives. In many instances coal containing bodies were of no use and removed from the railroads and taken to their destination in automobiles.

In a few isolated cases engineers abandoned their trains on the tracks and signal men left their boxes unprotected, resulting in narrow escapes from collisions.

Mobs stopped trains in Monmouthshire and threatened to tear up the rails if the trains were moved.

Islanders Are Hungry

The battleship Warrior arrived at Douglas, Isle of Man, this afternoon to provision the hungry Islanders whose regular communications with Liverpool have been cut off.

Reports from Wales say that some 20,000 or 30,000 coal miners will be idle tomorrow.

Thousands of holiday makers are stranded at seaside and country resorts without money and unable to obtain transportation home.

The international combine of steamship companies has no hope of getting away my ships from Liverpool this week. The best it expects to accomplish tomorrow is to see the steamer Philadelphia out of Southampton and the steamer Minneapolis out of London. These vessels, however, were fully booked up long ago, and consequently their sailing will not help to diminish the number of stranded Americans in London.

Situation Grave; Cabinet Decides to Remain in Session

LONDON, Aug. 18.—So critical does the government regard the strike situation that the cabinet suddenly decided this afternoon that parliament should not adjourn today, as had been arranged.

Chancellor David Lloyd-George stated:

"In view of the very troubled and critical situation in the industrial world it will be very inadvisable for this house to separate, at any rate for a few days, until we realize what the possibilities are of effecting some settlement."

The chancellor concluded by saying that the adjournment be delayed until, to any good purpose, make any statement at present. He moved that the adjournment be delayed until Tuesday next and this was agreed to.

During the session Secretary Churchill delivered a stern warning to the disorderly elements. He said there had been no disturbance in London, but several attempts had been made to commit outrages against railway property. It was important that all should understand that such acts were crimes of the most serious character, punishable with penal servitude. It was early yet to measure the extent of the strike, but the government was taking all necessary steps to make sure of the food supplies, as well as fuel and other materials should not be interrupted on the railroads or at the ports. All services vital to the community should be maintained, because the government was bound to protect the public from the danger that a general arrest of industry would entail.

He continued: "The means whereby the people of England live are get it this time. It will never happen again. The youngsters must be considered in this matter and they must heat this winter."

"There is a time to do politics, and there is a time to do something else," said Boyle. "I'll not stand for program. The people of the annexed district have been turned down too often by the citizens of this city."

"The world is at this time, it is true, in a time of heating and ventilation contracts, but not continuing every man in Birmingham will appear before the members of the Board of Education and demand that the work progress."

"All can make errors," said Montgomery. "I would suggest that you leave it to a legal advisor. I am not desirous of causing trouble."

HAVE NO CASE?

"Tell your clients they have no case," said Boyle. "Go home and forget it."

The district attorney declared that he could not pass upon the specifications submitted as he was not an expert, but he stated that if they did not agree to the letter with those advertised for by the board they would be liable.

"The contracts did not correspond with the specifications as there were technical defects in them and were illegal," said Director Brown. "That is why I have voted against granting the three contracts which the board awarded. I am not in favor of doing business that way."

"In my judgment the Daizell contract was illegal," said Superintendent of Schools J. W. McCloud, who had no vote in the matter.

"Last week I wanted to know why the bidders, who tore to pieces the report of the expert who passed on their bids at the previous meeting, uniting in asking that the board adopt them. It highly artificial and a serious breakdown would lead to starvation among a great number of poorer people. Not the well-to-do would suffer, but the poor of the great cities and those dependent on them who would be quite helpless if the machinery by which they are fed—on which they are dependent for wages—was thrown out of gear."

American Trade With England is at a Standstill

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The effects of the strike in Liverpool are beginning to be felt by New York merchants. Merchandise that is wanted badly has not arrived and agents on the other side cable that it is impossible to ship the goods. Many orders being cancellable as the time of receipt of the goods would make them of no value to the American firms.

It is stated at the United States appraiser's stores that scarcely any goods from England are being received. Most of the merchandise now being examined and appraised comes from France and Germany.

Railroad Men of Belfast Refuse to Join the Strikers

BELFAST, Aug. 18.—The railroad men here refused to obey the strike order to quit.

DUBLIN, Aug. 18.—The greater number of the principal railways lines in Ireland are partially affected by the strike. The railroad men are quitting gradually as they bring their trains into the city.

Women Join in the Fight Against Coventry Police.

COVENTRY, Eng., Aug. 18.—Seven per cent of the railroad men in this district have gone out. There were constant conflicts today between the police and men and women.

Reports from Wales say that some 20,000 or 30,000 coal miners will be idle tomorrow.

Thousands of holiday makers are stranded at seaside and country resorts without money and unable to obtain transportation home.

The international combine of steamship companies has no hope of getting away my ships from Liverpool this week. Lord Mayor of London Calls for Special Officers.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The Lord Mayor of London issued an appeal tonight to all local members of the national reserve who are willing, as private citizens, to enrol themselves as special constables, to attend the Guild Hall tonight and be sworn. In some districts where the territories have been recruited largely from railroad employees, the men have been ordered to return their arms to headquarters.

Meats Shops Empty; Police and Rioters Engage in Fights.

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., Aug. 18.—Sharp hand-to-hand fighting between the police and strikers occurred here today during attempts to restock the wholesale meat markets, which are practically empty. Wagons were loaded at the railway depot, but as soon as they appeared on the streets they were upset by strikers. The only wagons that got through were those moved after the arrival of strong police reinforcements. The rail service is in a chaotic state.

The police discovered that the man's suitcase was missing as well as the man, and that he had been drinking with several friends, although not to excess.

They discovered also that he had told a friend that he was troubled about the prospect of matrimony, and that while the situation had seemed an ideal one while he was several thousand miles away, the near approach to the nuptials filled him with perturbation of spirit and dampened his enthusiasm considerably.

Although the police have made a thorough search, they have been unable to find any trace of the man. It is thought possible by some of his friends that he may have committed suicide.

The police in Portland and Spokane have been notified, however, so that should he appear there the local police will be notified.

The police have the following description of Foley: He was a well-dressed man of 60 years of age, five feet eleven inches in height and weighed 165 pounds.

BITTER ROW OF YESTERDAY REOPENS

Discussion Over Arbitration and Piece Work Offers Opportunity for Scrap.

NO DAILY PAPER TO PUBLISH IN SEATTLE

Average Temperature of 70 Degrees Demanded for Workmen in Composing Rooms.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—The International Typographical Union in convention here passed a resolution today expressing as the sense of the convention that all members of the union should refuse to patronize Chinese laundries, restaurants and other establishments. Local unions were authorized to assess fines for violations. The resolution was introduced by Delegate G. M. Sheldon of Lowell, Mass.

It was voted unanimously to cancel the $5000 note of the Hatters' Union held by the Typographical Union and to return the note with the compliments of the Typographical Union.

A proposal by Delegate L. R. Maxwell of Topeka to take $100,000 from the old age pension fund, which is now $400,000, and use it for the erection of a permanent administration building in Indianapolis, was referred to the national executive council, to be voted on at the next general election.

When the delegates settled down to the business of today's session, it was to meet the struggle upon the result of which the retention in office of President James M. Lynch was said to depend. The administration forces won a decisive victory yesterday when they defeated the proposed amendment to bar from office holding any member found guilty of violating the law prohibiting participation in secret organizations within the union. The fight was re-opened today when the arbitration agreement and the piece work subject were called for reconsideration.

WOMEN OFFICERS INSTALLED.

The new national officers of the women's auxiliary were installed today. They are: Mrs. C. McKeen of Indianapolis, president; Mrs. R. J. Lowther of St. Louis, first vice-president.

The request of the Seattle union for authorization to begin the publication of an eight-page daily paper, to offset the attack which the Seattle delegates said was being made against the union in Seattle, was defeated.

A resolution was passed urging legislation requiring the maintenance of an average temperature of 70 degrees Fahrenheit in all composing rooms.

A telegram from Providence, R. I., asking for the 1914 convention was read. It is believed that the vote on arbitration and piece work will be reached today.

25 CENTS McNAMARA FUND.

Acting upon a recommendation made by Samuel Bompas, in a letter to the executive committee of the union, the convention voted an assessment of 25 cents on each member for the defense of the McNamara brothers at Los Angeles. A proposal by Delegate Koop of Chicago to vote $10,000 from the union treasury was defeated. The law committee was sustained in reporting unfavorably on the proposal of Howard Keener of Los Angeles to invest $5000 of the old age pension fund in 5 per cent bonds of the Los Angeles Labor Temple Association. The report of the committee on the McNamara case was read, and approved.

"We have nothing to do with the criminal side of the case," said the report, "and the law must be allowed to take its course." For the vindication of the McNamaras we express the utmost indignation and horror. Every right of citizens was outraged. We unreservedly condemn the action of the Indianapolis police department, the representatives of the Los Angeles police department, the representatives of Los Angeles district attorney's office, and the private detective agency concerned in the McNamara outrage."

PICTURES ILLEGAL SOCIETY.

The charge that precipitated the battle, which waged through an hour and a half of the most direct recrimination yesterday, was made by George Koop, delegate from Chicago, after an adverse report by the law committee on a proposition he had offered.

The proposition was an amendment to the general laws, as follows:

It shall be unlawful for any member of any subordinate union of the International Typographical Union to belong to any secret organization, oathbound or otherwise, the intent or purpose of which shall be to influence or control the legislation or the business of such local union or of the International Typographical Union, the selection or election of officers of such local or international union or the preferred or other situations under their jurisdiction.

The penalty for the first offense should be ineligibility for election to any office and for the second offense expulsion from the union, under Koop's amendment.

Koop, when given the floor to argue for the passage of the measure, made the charge that a secret organization of the officers of the international union had been in existence for years and that a meeting of these men, together with thirty other delegates, was held last Tuesday night.

He declared that when he and others of the insurgents first called at the hall they were denied admittance, and that when they called later they were chased down the street and had to seek protection in an all-night restaurant.

ROUGH-HOUSE TACTICS.

He said that three men followed him and that Charles Denon, superintendent of the Printers' Home at Colorado Springs, struck "again and again" at him with a cane.

The other men, he said, were Edward Bessette of Cleveland and T. D. Fenner of Los Angeles.

"There were too many of them, though," he added. "They were in each other's way."

Deacon he said, followed him into the restaurant, but stumbled against one of the booths and was unable to regain his feet in time to win the race.

"Yes, and you ran like a rat," interrupted E. E. Bessette of Cleveland. "You coward!"

James H. Dahm of New York allied himself with the insurgents and jumped into the battle.

"Every man knows," Dahm said, "that there is a secret inside organization in this body."

"I know that this organization held a meeting this week, and I know that it is high time that the rank and file of the International Typographical Union and the local unions within its jurisdiction wake up to the fact that this power that is slowly creeping upon them should be strangled."

"Let it be known that in San Francisco was started the movement for breaking up this insidious organization."

INSURGENTS' HURL DEFIS.

L. Rouse of New York, E. G. Mitchell of Seattle, V. Greene of Toronto, C. L. Wood of Fort Worth and Fred Belton of Toledo quickly went to Koop's aid with speeches bristling with denunciation for any such organization within the union.

It remained for Fred Barker of Spokane to draw the fire of President Lynch.

Barker said that he had known of the existence of the "wheel within a wheel" for many years. He said that it had been known by many names, one of which was the "Wahmets."

He did not know by what name it went now, but he said he had absolute proof that it was in existence, and that it had met in secret session on Tuesday night.

"This illegal bloodbathing organization will destroy us as sure as the sun rises tomorrow if it is allowed to remain in existence," said Barker.

"I hope this exposé will wipe out this insidious clique and permit men to conduct the affairs of this otherwise glorious organization."

During the various tirades of the opposition leaders, President Lynch had been sitting quietly at his desk, smiling now and then, but seemingly paying but slight attention to the attack. Suddenly, however, at the end of Barker's speech, his attitude changed. His gavel fell with a resounding bang upon the chairman's table and his eyes flashed with the lightning of battle as he strode to the very edge of the platform.

LYNCH ACCEPTS CHALLENGE.

"At this time the president of this organization desires to take his stand squarely upon the report of the laws committee," he began vigorously. "This is not a question upon the report of the laws committee, however. That is being made the subterfuge for an entirely new speech by speakers who have decided to make a sensational issue, if you will."

"Men are the greatest gold brick artists in the world—their wives are the easy marks."

"And yet these very men have been holding their own meetings. They acknowledge it here, and in order that there might be some semblance of compliance with our laws a reporter was invited to one of these meetings and given a copy of their proceedings. But the newspapers were not asked to send representatives, nor was any report given to them. Now these men tell us that 13 delegates to this convention wish to associate together; they are evildoers. Are we children? Are we tyros in politics? Are we blinded by the admission of a reporter to their meetings, when we know that our own officers could not attend?"

COUNTER CHARGES HURLED.

"These same men have had their officers and have conducted a secret correspondence for two years, and we know it. When these men, these paragons of virtue, blate to you with attempted sarcasm of some terrible organization, and ask you to put it out of existence, it wouldn't be better for them to put their own out of existence?" They have sent scurrilous literature through the mails attacking the private and public character of candidates for office. They have kept a newspaper in Denver to malign the officers of this union; they have attacked me in Spokane; they make no charges here. They don't dare to."

"Understand me now. You can't outface me, you can't outtalk me, and in the next election you can't change the issue that is up here now. I dare you to bring charges here; I dare you to be an idiot and tell your to disrupt your own organizations. I never was afraid of you and I never will be. You are never going to sidetrack any issue at all, and you are not going to scare me one bit."

"There were too many of them, though," he added. "They were in each other's way."

Deacon he said, followed him into the restaurant, but stumbled against one of the booths and was unable to regain his feet in time to win the race.

Miss Butters and Mrs. Metcalf Deny Suits of Swan and Edgar.

Miss Marguerita Butters, daughter of the late Henry Butters, South African mining millionaire, and Mrs. Marie Butters Metcalf, widow of the late Victor H. Metcalf, Jr., declare that the suits filed against them in the justice courts of this city by London tradesmen are without cause or foundation. They say the tradesmen, Swan & Edgar, have no just claims against them. Miss Butters is sued for $240 and Mrs. Metcalf for $83.50.

Miss Butters has recently returned from the Philippines, where she went some time ago on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Lincoln Karmody, wife of Colonel Karmody. She was accompanied by Mrs. Metcalf and the latter still remains in the Islands. About a year ago the marriage of the former Miss Butters took place against the decree of the will of the late Mrs. Lucile Beebe Butters, who cut off her daughter in the event of her marrying again.

HOME-POSTAL ALLIANCE MEANS BATTLE OF WIRES*Million Dollars in Gauntlet Thrown at the Bell Phone and Western Union

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—That a deal, involving millions, has just been made by the Postal Telegraph and Home Telephone companies, which henceforth will make a joint stand against the combination of the Bell Telephone system and the Western Union Telegraph company, was stated on high authority in financial circles yesterday.

This deal, according to this statement, was completed three days ago. It will put a cool million dollars into circulation in San Francisco in a fight for business in which the rival alliances will be at each other's throats.

The Home Telephone people will contribute half of this million-dollar fund and the Postal the other half million. The money will be used in developing the new joint business of the two companies.

SECRET OF DEAL GUARDED.

Though the utmost secrecy has been maintained in connection with this deal it was learned that R. N. Frick, attorney for the Home Telephone company, left last night for Los Angeles, the headquarters of the Home Telephone company's organization.

The Adams company, which did the underwriting for the Home Telephone company when it first made its way into Los Angeles, is declared to have financed the deal just consummated.

The negotiations are said to have been in progress for months, beginning when the Western Union began accepting "charged" messages over the telephone, bills for which were included with monthly telephone bills.

This arrangement was made possible by the absorption of the Western Union by the Bell Telephone system, formal announcement of which was made by Theodore N. Vail, president of the American Telephone Company, in November, 1909.

ALLIANCE MEANS FIGHT.

It was thought at the time the telephone trust took control of the big telephone concern that it would also absorb the Postal Telegraph company. There has ensued a fight for business, however, in which the proposed association of the Home and Postal companies is the most important move so far made in the west.

The Home Telephone company has acquired a strong foothold in the southern part of the state, and with Home plants flourishing in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara and other southern cities, and long distance lines as far north as Santa Maria, in Santa Barbara county, it is expected soon to connect up the Home system of Oakland and San Francisco with those of the south.

The campaign for business here, in which the million dollar fund is presumably to be spent, is to be made one of the most spectacular ever known in the telephone or telegraph business.

BIG BUSINESS GETTER.

It is expected that the Western Union and Pacific States Telephone companies will throw their forces into the field to back up the advantages they have secured during the several months of their association. These advantages are said to have been large for the convenience of having telegrams to distant points simply charged upon the monthly telephone bills as is said to have been a great business getter.

BARTON FAMILY FACING CHARGE

Well-Known Oaklanders Accused of Misappropriating Funds.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Charges of misappropriation form the basis of a complaint filed yesterday against four members of the Barton family of Oakland, in their capacity of directors of the Barton Packing and Rubber Company. Only two members of the family, which is socially prominent on both sides of the bay, are charged with misdirecting funds, but the directors are sued for recovery. Each of the four Bartons and W. B. Dunning is asked to refund $12,215.29 to S. S. Jones & Co. and all other creditors of the packing and rubber company.

The complaint states that the Barton company failed on May 22 of this year and assigned all assets to creditors. The claim is made by the Jones company, in behalf of the other creditors, that $12,215, which should have been in the assets, has been misappropriated by two of the Barton family.

Alfred Barton, president of the firm, conceals is accused of diverting $7418 of the company's money into his own pockets; Willard Barton, secretary and treasurer, it is claimed, did the same thing with a slightly less sum. The alleged misappropriations are said to have occurred between June 1, 1908 and April 17, 1911.

The Jones company states that the Bartons bought goods of it amounting to $17,086 and only paid $865. Suit is directed against each of the directors for the balance owing.

TAFT'S VISIT IN CONGRESS' HANDS

President Tells Solons He Will Have to Wait For Adjournment.

Beautiful Woman Accuses Son-in-Law of Senator Works.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 18.—Fashionable social circles were all upset last night over the arrest of Griffing Bancroft, son-in-law of United States Senator John D. Works, on a charge of insulting Miss Gladys Reynolds, a beautiful young woman employed as a book-keeper at the Klessig Sporting Goods store.

Bancroft was taken in custody just after he had accosted the young woman near the postoffice. He put up bail for his appearance in police court yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace.

He gave the name of "John Doe" and begged the officers not to divulge his right name.

Griffing Bancroft is a son of Historian Bancroft of San Francisco. He is connected with several of the most prominent families here and owns several blocks of valuable property on Fifth street. As a clubman and social leader he stands high.

This morning the $10 bail was forfeited when John Doe's name was called. It was not necessary for Miss Reynolds to appear. She told the policeman that Bancroft had followed her for three blocks before approaching her.

Miss Reynolds lives with her old mother. She has no father or brothers.

JORDAN SURRENDERS; RELEASED ON BONDS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—James H. ("Sam") Jordan, who was indicted yesterday on a charge of issuing an unlawful check for $200, surrendered to the police. He was released on bail of $500.

Jordan refused to discuss his own affairs or those of his brother, Joseph Jordan, who is said to have been indicted on a charge of forgery.

The check which was cashed in his office in the Mills building started an investigation. The check which resulted in James Jordan's indictment was given to Dodd.

HOW TO PREVENT

GAS FORMATION IN YOUR STOMACH AND BOWELS

by a new and infallible remedy. Until recently, physicians recognized 7000 stomachs only as the cause of gas formation, but of late your nerves, which control the function of digestion, have been found to be the real cause of stomach gas. To cure this cause permanently there is one remedy, and that is the BAALMANN'S GAS TABLETS. These tablets are not a digestive, contain NO papain, charcoal, soda and the remedies generally used for dyspepsia.

BAALMANN'S GAS-TABLETS act on the nerves of your stomach; they quiet the irritable, nervous digestive apparatus, therefore gas simply will not and positively cannot form in your stomach and bowels.

Get a 50c bottle of these peculiar tablets from your druggist, or tell him to get them for you from his wholesale house, or send direct to Baalmann Pharmacy, 334 Sutter street, San Francisco, California.

DEAD MAN'S NAME IS DRAGGED INTO CASE

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The suit of Captain Peter C. Hains for divorce was called to trial before Justice Scudder in Brooklyn yesterday. The captain was not present as he is in Sing Sing serving an eight-year sentence for killing William E. Annis. The attentions paid to Mrs. Hains that caused Captain Hains to kill Annis in August, 1908, are the grounds for the action. Annis, now dead three years, was set up as the correspondent. Both Thornton Hare, the novelist, and mother of the captain, who was with him when the fatal shots were fired, and General Hains, the father, were in court in charge of the case. Captain Hains began the action against his wife some time ago.

MANUAL TRAINING TO BE REAL WORK

VALLEJO, Aug. 18.—Manual training for high school students here is to be a practical thing, according to Professor Albert M. Armstrong, recently chosen superintendent of the city's public schools. In line with his individual ideas he plans to initiate the boys into the mysteries of real work by making them erect a barbed-wire fence about the campus. Post-hole diggers were distributed this morning indiscriminately.

FOUR MONTHS SEWER WORK TO COST $240,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—The board of public works sent a formal request to the supervisors yesterday for $240,000 to cover the cost of sewer work proposed to be done during the four last months of the year, beginning September 1. It was explained that the heavy rains of February and March caused so much damage to sewers that a great deal of extra work has been necessary.

MISS FLORENCE M. HILL, who has broken her engagement to marry Thomas Jones of Berkeley.

The report that Miss Florence Marion Hill, daughter of John C. Hill of 1916 Hastings avenue, Fruitvale, and popular Oakland society girl, has broken her engagement to marry Thomas Jones, prominent University of California man, was verified by Miss Hill this morning.

Though Miss Hill would only say "yes, it's true, but—" and would not admit that, as has been reported, another man had played havoc with young Jones' chances, it is said in college circles that a Stanford man, of which university Miss Hill is herself a graduate, was loath to allow a U. C. man to carry off his bonny prize, and so prevailed upon her to remain loyal to her old suitor.

When the engagement of Miss Hill and the popular "Tom" Jones was announced last spring, "the pretty bride-to-be was literally deluged with gifts, engagement cups, spoons and trinkets—and the wedding was to have taken place this fall. Now the pretty gifts have all been returned to the senders and it is whispered that another engagement will probably be announced before the year is over.

POLICEMAN FANS FIGHTING DRUNK

Milk Wagon and Street Car Crash, Wrecking Both Vehicles.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—In a disastrous collision at Height and Pierce streets at an early hour this morning between a car and a milk wagon, both vehicles were wrecked and two persons were injured, one of them seriously.

Dolph Williamson, of 11 Galer street, received lacerations of the scalp, a possible fracture of the skull, bruises and abrasions of the body and possible internal injuries.

Harold McCarthy of 1714-A Polk street, had his face and hands lacerated by flying glass.

Both were treated at the Central Emergency Hospital.

Williamson, a driver for the United Milk Company, was crossing the track when car 1698, one of the owls, descended the hill from Scott street at a rapid rate, smashed into the wagon, and shoved it along the block for fifty yards before coming to a stop. Williamson was hurled twenty feet to the sidewalk and rendered unconscious, and McCarthy, who was on the front platform, was struck by glass.

The motorman, Albert Arnold, was thrown down but was uninjured. Every window in the car was smashed and the fender and front end were twisted and broken. Policemen Frederick and Deasy summoned a physician and the ambulance and the injured men conveyed to the hospital where Dr. Harder treated them.

Arnold was arrested and booked for battery.

CURING CATARRH

Accept Our Advice and Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

Catarrh is a disease of the mucous membrane. The mucous membrane is, one may say, the interior lining of the body. Catarrh therefore may exist at any part of the system.

With the catarrhal poison attacks the mucous membrane, inflammation and congestion are produced and nature fails to throw off the accumulated poisons. The organ which has been afflicted ceases to perform its proper function as nature intended it should. The result is, complication upon complication, which may lead to other even more serious afflictions.

We honestly believe Rexall Muco-Tone will do wonders toward overcoming catarrh. It is made from the prescription of an eminent physician who made a long study of catarrh, and by his great success with this remedy was an enviable one.

We want you, if you are a sufferer from catarrh, to ask your druggist to give Rexall Muco-Tone a thorough trial. Use it with regularity and persistency for a reasonable time, then if you are not satisfied, come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every cent you paid us. This is certainly the fairest offer that anyone could make and should attest our sincerity of purpose. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at the Owl Drug Co., Inc., Tenth and Washington, Thirteenth and Broadway, Sixteenth and San Pablo.

SAYS SUICIDE WAS BLACKMAIL VICTIM

Cracker Baker Identifies Remains of Man Who Took Life.

ELMHURST, Aug. 18.—J. E. Gustin, financial secretary of the San Francisco Cracker Bakers' Union No. 25, yesterday afternoon identified as Antone Ellers, a San Francisco cracker baker, the remains of the man who shot and killed himself on the Foothill boulevard last week.

After making sure of the identity through the clothing and other effects, Gustin announced that the remains will be exhumed and a proper burial by the San Francisco Union. The body was interred in the potter's field several days ago after an inquest had been held at the local morgue.

According to Gustin the dead man was the same Antone Ellers who frightened him by holding the possibility of a penitentiary sentence over his head. A nephew of Ellers is blamed for the trouble. It being alleged that he shot a man in the same place as in San Francisco and to save him Ellers handed money over to blackmailers.

Decedent disappeared from San Francisco several weeks ago. He was a native of Germany, 58 years old and unmarried.

WOMEN MAY AVOID OPERATIONS

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

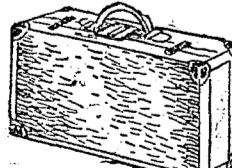

Here is her own statement.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a dis- placement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for seven months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women. Why don't you try it?

LIQUOR LICENSE WORRIES HAYWARD

Clausen's Request to Move His Saloon Divides Trustees Into Two Factions.

HAYWARD, Aug. 18.—The demand of Captain H. Clausen, at present running a saloon in the Foster building on Castro street, that he be given a permit to move his saloon to the Flores building on Main street, without procuring a new license, caused a heated discussion at the meeting of the town trustees last night. In the opinion of Trustee Welsh no moving permit should be granted until the people had been given a chance to vote on the subject, he further stating that the local saloon should keep with a restricted territory. City Attorney Gray decided that Clausen would have to make a regular application for a moving permit at the next session.

Mayor Mayo, however, contended that if Clausen is granted a new permit the proprietor of the premises in the Foster building will demand a license, as the place has always been run as a saloon. This may be objected to, as he is not in favor of the admission of liquor houses in town. The matter will be voted at the next meeting of the board.

A resolution of intention to curb and gutter and pave Main street, from Castro to Franklin, was passed to print.

An ordinance was passed fixing the width of sidewalks on C street between Main and First, was read; also one fixing the width of sidewalks on upper streets from Fourth to Fifth streets.

The water main passing Main street was laid over until next meeting to have the town engineer explain the proposed retaining wall at the foot of Main street at E.

End of Law by Private Dispensation.

It is safe to say that the people of San Francisco will never again entrust the machinery of the criminal law into private hands nor consent that the District Attorney's office shall be surrendered to the control of private individuals having no warrant of authority and no responsibility to the public.

The experiment which has been closed by sweeping all the so-called graft indictments off the calendar has been of value as instruction. Otherwise it was disastrous to civics and the cause of good government. It brought the law into contempt and its agencies into odium and disrepute. It struck at the right of fair trial and denied the validity of the section of the penal code guaranteeing every person charged with crime a trial within sixty days after the filing of the indictment or information.

Hereafter no single individual, or group of individuals, having no vested authority will be permitted to say who shall be indicted, who shall be tried and when tried, and who shall be given immunity for confessed crimes. Nor will any private individual be permitted to control the District Attorney's office, supply and finance its agents and direct its activities, nor say who shall and shall not be punished for offenses against the law and the welfare of society.

The evils of private administration of the criminal law were first demonstrated by the wholesale grants of immunity given to the band of official scoundrels who were employing their official powers as instruments of blackmail and graft. It then became evident that the crusade ostensibly begun to purify political morals and punish graft and blackmail in office had become a matter of private selection; that the operation of the law had ceased to be general and equitable and had become a matter of bargain between criminals and persons who had without legal warrant seized the machinery of the law and were employing it in their own way to suit their own purposes. And, furthermore, that extraordinary devices were resorted to, strange innovations introduced into criminal process in and out of the courts, and methods employed which outraged domestic and business privacy and offended against the principle of equal and exact justice the law was devised to enforce.

It speedily developed that the object of the private administration of the law was to get at certain individuals at all hazards and by any means which could be employed. In pursuit of this object criminals were protected from punishment, the sanctity of the jury-room invaded and the mandates of the law ignored. If it be said that Abraham Ruef and Michael Coffey were convicted and sent to prison, let it be remembered that both were given blanket grants of immunity and were afterward prosecuted, not for committing the crimes with which they were charged, but for refusing to give such testimony on the witness stand that the private administrators of the law demanded—testimony which Ruef and Coffey declared would be false and perjured.

But it has all come to an end, as all such things must, and the experience will be a lesson and a warning for the future. The section of the Penal Code which Judge Lawlor has for years persistently ignored and defied has finally been given potency, and the right of speedy trial is once more a lawful guaranty. Justice is no longer a matter of private dispensation and the operation of law no longer directed by private convenience and design. It is worth while in this connection to quote the statement made by Deputy District Attorney Berry when Judge Lawlor, in obedience to the mandate of the District Court of Appeal, dismissed the indictments which he had for more than two years refused to let come to a trial. Judge Lawlor asked him if he desired to take an appeal from the order of the Appellate Court.

"We do not," said Berry, "and I desire to make a statement on that matter. I am here as a public official to perform a public duty, but I am now strongly of the opinion that this State is in need of friends, and not enemies. I have gone very carefully over the records and testimony adduced at previous trials of these cases, and am firmly convinced that even if Gallagher were here we could not adduce sufficient evidence to convict."

Yet Lawlor made the absence of Gallagher, who fled with the knowledge and consent of the private dispensers of justice, a pretext for denying the defendants the right of trial, a right which the law expressly guarantees.

When a general railroad strike was threatened in France the English journals descended on the political danger to the French republic that was foreboded. The British editors complacently spoke of the French as incompetent to deal with a situation so complicated as a general paralysis of railway transportation would bring on. But the French government suppressed the strike by summary methods, and now it is the turn of French editors to sympathize with the difficulties in which their neighbors across the channel are involved. The strike situation in England is worse than the one that harassed France a short time ago. There are riots, bloodshed, and industrial paralysis in the chief centers, and the military have come into open collision with mobs of strikers and strike-sympathizers. Unless the disturbances are speedily quieted and industrial peace restored, the supremacy of the Liberal party will be threatened. A return of the Conservatives to power at this time would be a misfortune, but it is not unlikely in view of the ferment into which the kingdom has been thrown by the great strike. The party in power always suffers from such conflicts.

President Taft has notified Champ Clark, Oscar Underwood and their Democratic associates that no tariff revision for campaign purposes will be permitted if he can help it. Nor does he propose to see the protective system destroyed without protest. He has vetoed the wool bill because it is crude and ill-considered and based on the tariff-for-revenue principle. He was elected on a platform which declared in favor of protecting American labor and capital from destructive foreign competition, and his veto of the wool bill attests his loyalty to the national Republican platform adopted at Chicago in 1908.

The people of Arizona have no reason to blame the President for their failure to get into the Union as quickly as they wished. When they were making their constitution they were warned that incorporating a recall provision would in all probability balk their aspirations. They knew the President was absolutely against it, and it was suggested to them that friction could be avoided by leaving out the recall till after Arizona was admitted—then they could put it in if they desired. But they were determined to force the issue on Congress and the President; they persisted in an attempt to force the President to endorse something he had denounced as unwise and vicious, putting their aspiration for statehood to an unnecessary hazard at the instigation of dreamers, agitators and visionaries in other parts of the country. The effort to force the President to approve the recall has failed, and Arizona will have to stay out of the Union for awhile longer, unless the statehood resolution can be passed over the President's veto. All because of an obstinate determination to force an issue that could easily have been avoided.

LEARNING TO SWING IT

CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER.

What Alaska Most Needs.

The Stockton Mail is Democratic and it is strongly tinted with many of the fads and notions paraded around of late as reforms; but it is not lacking in good sense and speaks out in a spirit of candor that is refreshing in these days of humbug and false pretense. For instance, the Mail says:

"President Taft and Secretary Ballinger were right every step of the way in the fight with noisy and belligerent ignorance, and every man who knows Alaska, no matter what his politics, will agree that this statement is the naked, unqualified truth."

The writer of the above paragraph, Philip Francis, has been to Alaska and is personally familiar with the situation there. He is not in political sympathy with President Taft, and speaks as a hostile critic rather than a partisan admirer. But Mr. Francis is a man who sees with his own eyes, judges with his own mind and speaks what to him seemeth to be true. His testimony in regard to Alaskan land matters is that of a witness who knows whereof he speaks, and is sincere, honest and truthful. Moreover, he is disinterested and desirous of benefiting the Territory and its inhabitants. Nor has he any sympathy with land-grabbers and greedy corporations.

Development in Alaska is suspended while an acrimonious controversy is carried on between opposing bands of politicians who are more desirous of gaining personal and political advantage than of serving the best interests of the Territory. Few of them have any real knowledge of the facts and the most of them are careless of the truth and deal with the question in a spirit of vindictive partisanship. The facts have become obscured in the clamors of a row that is partly political and partly personal, and it is the facts that should be rescued from the cloud of misrepresentation and placed fairly before the public. If that be done the legislation necessary to the development of Alaska's resources can be secured from Congress without further delay.

California is particularly interested in this matter for a variety of reasons. Citizens of this State have large interests in Alaska and the cities of San Francisco, Oakland and Los Angeles have extensive trade connections with the Territory and the adjacent Arctic regions. This trade is lagging and suffering by reason of the existing obstacles to development in Alaska. This State is losing money by reason of the tangle in which Alaskan affairs have become involved, hence the citizens of California should interest themselves in untangling the skein and opening the door to development in Alaska. Let us therefore have the truth without bias or prejudice and discussion without heat and passion. Obstructions and theories are no help to a conclusion when they are urged without knowledge of conditions and with indifference to the facts. First, get at the facts and then deal with them in a sensible way—not for political effect, but to secure the development and permanent occupation of Alaska.

By all means President Taft should be present when ground is broken for the Panama-Pacific Exposition. It would give elation to the occasion and be a big advertisement for the exposition. Besides, everybody out here would be glad to see the President again and get in the glow of the Taft smile—it is the very contagion of good humor. No doubt the President would enjoy another visit to California, and it would do him good to drop official cares for a short time and come again on a purely social visit, and meet the people here at the inauguration of a great enterprise which enlists universal sympathy and is of wide international interest. THE TRIBUNE trusts the President will find it convenient to lend his presence to the ground-breaking for the big fair. He will receive the heartiest of welcomes and be given as good a time as anyone ever had.

The hot weather seems to have gone to the head of our excellent neighbor, the Hamford Sentinel, else it would not speak in this bitter strain: "And now it is the OAKLAND TRIBUNE that complains that it is unfair to give valley cities the benefit of terminal railroad rates. The Oakland paper talks as if God Almighty built the sea and filled it with water especially for the few cities built along the coast, and then man built the railroads for the same purpose instead of for all mankind regardless of location. Beats all what selfishness will do." The sea was not made for the cities on the coast, but the cities on the coast were built because of the sea and the facilities it affords for transportation and commerce. These facilities are a natural advantage that is recognized in every civilized country as one which cannot be artificially neutralized. Our Hamford contemporary wants railway freight charges to be based on a false assumption—namely, that interior towns have free water communication, which they have not. It argues, or rather contends, from a selfish point of view: For rate-making purposes it wants the sea brought theoretically to Hamford. In other words, it believes the mountain should go to Mahomet. It is of record, however, that Mahomet went to the mountain.

The preliminary examination of John G. Howell, jointly accused with P. H. Maxwell with the murder of R. S. Covin, will take place in the police court tomorrow morning. It is said that Attorneys A. A. Moore, W. W. Foote, C. H. Gunn and Warren Olney will appear for Howell.

reers" before they were designated as such, and who lived in blissful ignorance of the perils to which they were exposing their domestic happiness. All club-women will note the rashness of the statement on the centenary of the "little woman who caused the great war" as "Lincoln" said, and who wrote her epoch-making book against slavery in the intervals of nursing her children and attending to the repairs of kitchen plumbing.

Much depends in the nature of things on the individual woman, but generally speaking, women leaders have reason to welcome masculine criticism that mainly serves to provide them with new arguments for their cause.—New York World.

SERMONS IN BRIEF

THE PRODIGAL SON.

(By Rev. W. W. Case, Pastor of Shattuck Avenue M. E. Church.)

Text, Luke xv:32—"It was meet that we should make merry and be glad, for this thy brother was dead and is alive again; and was lost, and is found."

My text is taken from what is called "The Parable of the Prodigal Son." That is not a good title for the story; it is not properly a story about a prodigal son. There is a prodigal son in the picture, but he is not the chief or central figure. We read of the stupidity and sin and sorrow of a dissipated lad who left his father's home, but that is only a detail in the story. It is not a picture of a prodigal which Christ paints, but a picture of a loving father.

It is not a story of a father with one unworthy son, but a father who had the misfortune to have two sons both equally unfilial. Though the man had two children he did not possess a single son. The two were brothers only in name. It was nominally a home, but not in reality.

The parable shows us how the father by real fatherlessness won back to himself—not a prodigal, but two unloving sons. It is a picture of the way in which men lose the loving Father they might all possess and of the gentle way in which the Father tries to win them back to a happy home.

We have our portion, but not distinct and separate, as if we were running a business on our own account. The beginning of all evil in God's children is when they get tired of this subordination and want to be their own masters. They may do it as the prodigal did it, by wandering into sin, or like elder son, by a selfish partisanship and hypocrisy. It may have been wise for the father to give his son his property. The boy was beside himself, he was a fool, and only experience teaches fools.

But little space is left for reference to the elder son. He was a mercenary, selfish hypocrite. If he had been a true son he would not have stood outside, grieved and angry when his poor lost brother came back. He is the type of those sceptical religious men and women who have no pity for fallen girls and prodigals, who are dead but might be alive again if they only had a brotherly brother to give them a hand. God meant this parable to put into our hearts this lesson—to think of God as greater, better, more tender, more loving and more accessible than the big-hearted father in the story.

The Fatherhood of God, a true sense of Christian brotherhood—that is the heaven and earth we need to have if we are to be pure and brave and good.

Test of Sixty

What about the hour when you find yourself in the 60s, an old man—far, far worse, an old woman?

To have to consider yourself "out of it," as regards all the most interesting affairs of life; to realize that you have had your day and ceased to be, as a necessity or a power or a treasure of the world; that your place is on the shelf, with old-fashioned, outworn, discarded things; that you have eaten your cake to the dry crumbs and can expect no more—nothing but to grow daily feebler and uglier and more obsolete and superfluous, declining to that death which at last is inescapable—what an awful pass to come to!

It is the time when the society queen her prestige and beauty gone, retires to a convent; when religion, whatever the patterns of it may be, is called upon to justify itself once and for all. In these popular oleographs which depict faith as a woman clinging to a cross in a raging sea, the figure should have been that of an old hag and not a fair young girl, for it is when all else fails that the church offers itself as the last, only, and sufficient buttress against despair.—Atlantic.

It is all right to applaud heroic life-saving, but there ought to be some effective way of expressing appropriate sentiments for the fools who wantonly put themselves or others in peril and thus in need of rescue.

THE BEST OF ALL PLAYER-PIANOS

The Angelus

There is no Piano-Player that compares with the Angelus, and no Player-Piano at or near its price that compares favorably with the Angelus Piano. The Angelus mechanism is better made, more durable, easier of operation and more simply controlled than that of any other Piano.

No other Player-Piano contains the Melodant, which separates the melody and the surrounding harmony, accenting every melody note just as in hand playing.

The Phrasing Lever, which truly imparts the personality of the performer in every number played, is an exclusive Angelus patent.

These are but two exclusive Angelus features. There are twenty others.

Angelus Pianos are guaranteed for ten years—twice as long as any other. Though better, they are no more expensive than the ordinary kind, and are sold on easy payments. Your old Piano taken at full value.

John T. Cox Elected Treasurer at San Francisco Convention.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—With the election and installation of officers for the coming year, all official business of the seventh convention of the California Funeral Directors' Association was concluded yesterday in Red Men's Hall, 240 Golden Gate avenue.

The morning was taken up with the reading of a paper, "Professional Courtesy," by George W. Lunt of San Francisco, and "Recent Court Decisions as to Undertaking Zones," by Robert Sharp of Los Angeles, selection of a place for next year's meeting, and the election of officers. The following are the new officers of the association:

J. P. O'Connor of Los Angeles, president; J. C. Monahan of San Francisco, first vice-president; C. H. Burton of San Jose, second vice-president; H. W. Massena, second vice-president; John J. Timony, secretary; John T. Cox of Oakland, treasurer; and George W. Timony, sergeant-at-arms.

Through the efforts of B. T. Wallace, retiring president of the association, and coroner of Stockton, that city was selected as the place of the convention for August, 1912.

In the afternoon Professor Moll of Chicago gave a final lecture and demonstration on embalming and in the handling of the embalming fluids.

At 8 o'clock in the evening the delegates and their friends held their annual banquet, which brought the convention to a close.

CHARMS OF DUSKY QUEEN, FETTERS

Survivors of Wrecked Puritan Stay at Tahiti to Wed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Lured by the charms of dusky queens of Tahiti, Harry Smith and Martin Peterson of the crew of the bark Puritan, wrecked recently in midocean, are married men today and are tossing the wort on banana and cocoanut plantations in that far-off Isle.

At least such is the story told by other members of the crew who arrived yesterday on the royal mail steamer Aorangi from Papeete.

First Mate H. H. Hatfield, who with ten other survivors, came on the Aorangi, said the Puritan, sailing to within 1000 miles, he and his men arrived at Anai, 30 miles from Papeete. They were received with great hospitality by the natives, who had seen no white men for a long time. Roast pig and all other delicacies the island could provide were prepared for the castaways.

"When we reached Tahiti," said Hatfield, "this kind treatment was continued and the natives pressed us to stay there, but only Peterson and Smith consented."

The men who arrived here came to be paid off as they shipped from here.

MILLIONS ARE INVOLVED IN BIG RAILWAY SWAP

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—It became known in railroad circles in this city yesterday that the final papers in the proposed $10,000,000 swap between the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific, involving stretches of main line track on both roads, which have been hitherto mutually held on long-term leases, were ready for signatures and would be submitted to the directors next week.

The stretch of road involved consists in the track between Mojave and Needles, owned by the Southern Pacific, but leased to the Santa Fe, and that owned by the Santa Fe from Nogales to Guaymas, in Mexico, which is leased to the Southern Pacific. The former trackage is 242 miles in length, the latter 363 miles.

In spite of the disparity in these distances, the Needles-to-Mojave line is considered the more valuable, and the terms of the trade are understood to have been arranged accordingly. The $10,000,000 is given by the railroads as a conservative estimate of the amount involved in the transaction.

NOTED ARTIST TAKES BRIDE AT PACIFIC GROVE

PACIFIC GROVE, Aug. 18.—Miss Minnie B. Ayers and John William Cantrell, the San Francisco artist, were married yesterday. The ceremony, performed by Rev. Leslie M. The bride's sister, Miss Ayers of Chicago, Mrs. Wait of Great Falls, Mont., Mrs. Henry McLeroy and Mr. McLeroy, the groom's mother, Mrs. Catherine Cantrell, and his brother, Roy J. Cantrell of San Francisco, witnessed the ceremony. Beautiful blossoms lent color to the handsome home. A wedding breakfast was served.

DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR, STOPPED

Harmless, Old-fashioned Remedy Brings Back Color to Gray Hair and Makes it Grow

How many old-fashioned remedies are being used, which goes to show that it is hard to improve some of our grandmothers' old-time, tried remedies. For instance, for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy nothing equals our grandmothers' old-time "remedies." Although, the addition of sulphur and other ingredients this old-fashioned brew has been made more effective as a scalp tonic and color restorer.

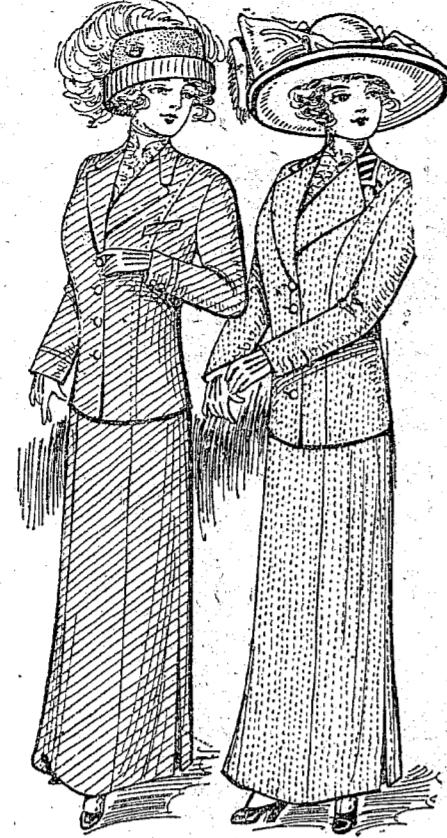

Nowadays, when our hair comes out or gets faded, or gray, instead of going to the garden or garret for herbs and making the "tea" ourselves, we simply go to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy.

Druggists are authorized to sell it unless it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at 50 cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by The Owl Drug Co., 13th and Broadway, 10th and Washington and 16th and San Pablo.

STONE TO AVIATE DESPITE PLUNGE

Daring Birdman Not Unnerved by Accident of Wednesday.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—That Arthur Stone, the aviator, who plunged into Lake Michigan on Wednesday, has not lost his nerve was evidenced by the fact that he yesterday set his force of French mechanics to work assembling another racer. He expects to have the machine finished if time to enter the events of tomorrow and Sunday.

The Queen monoplane, which, plunged with the aviator into the lake, was unhooked from the buoy which had kept it afloat and hauled to the aviator's hangar yesterday.

The fuselage was broken in two near the middle and the beetle-like wings were crushed into a shapeless mass. The engine was intact, with hardly a scratch, despite its fall of some 2000 feet.

'AUTO' HEIRESS TO STAND TRIAL

Unable to Raise $3000 Cash Bail, Eleanor Simney Remains in Jail.

Attorney Prefers Court Procedure Probation by Juvenile Tribunal for Young Girls.

Pretty eighteen-year-old Eleanor Simney will be tried in the criminal courts on a felony charge as a result of the action of Attorney Mervyn Samuels in denying the jurisdiction of the juvenile court in her case. The girl, who is accused of having obtained the use of a $3500 automobile for over one month under false pretenses of being an heiress, was arraigned before Judge George Quinn, sitting for Judge George Samuels this morning, and her case was set for August 23 for trial on examination.

Miss Simney was recognized to the city prison last night after Attorney Samuels had forced the auto dealers whom she is alleged to have defrauded to swear out a warrant against her returnable in the local police court. She spent the night in the city prison, and this morning appeared in the cage in the police court seated between a dope fiend and a drunk, with several vagrants and drunks as her near neighbors. Despite the fact that she had slept in a cell in the city prison, she had made herself neat to come into court, and her brown hair was done into a coiffure in the latest mode, albeit the beauty curls were a little bedraggled.

She kept her blue eyes fixed intently upon the judge and only glanced occasionally at the other inmates of the dock.

NO BAIL, GOES TO JAIL

Following the court the girl was returned to the city prison. The bond in her case has been fixed at $6000 or $3000 cash bail. So far as is known by the court authorities no attempt has been made to raise this.

The father of the girl, Nicholas Simney of San Leandro, was not in court this morning.

That the Simney girl was made the victim of designing agents of the automobile company, who took her out on joy rides with the expectation of forcing her parents to purchase the machine, is the allegation made by her attorney, Mervyn Samuels. This is denied by John Leming and W. P. Jarvis of the Central Auto Car Company, who spoke to the warrant charging the girl with obtaining property under false pretenses. They declare that they have letters from her in which she excuses herself for not having made payments sooner on the automobile, and explains that the guardian appointed in the will bequeathing her a fortune has not yet turned the money over to her.

ATTORNEY SAMUELS' SURPRISE

Half a hundred guests accepted the hospitality of Mrs. Oscar W. Koestner at the large card party over which she presided at her quarters at Mare Island on Wednesday afternoon, offering the pretty compliment to Mrs. Owen H. Oakley, who is spending the summer in the navy yard town, as the South Dakota, to which Lieutenant Oakley is attached, is Mare Island for a few months. Masses of sweet peas were used in the decorations of the drawing room and reception hall, where the twelve tables were placed for the bridge players, among whom the highest bidders went to Mrs. Richard S. Douglass; Mrs. James M. Sargent, Mrs. William H. Tomb, Mrs. Frank H. Bennett, Mrs. Carl Gamborg-Andersen, Miss Pergam, Miss Charles H. Harlow, Mrs. William H. Standley, Miss Lucy Matthews, Miss Marie Yearley of Baltimore, Mrs. Frank J. Schwabell and Mrs. Herringshaw.

Lieutenant Harold L. Paterson of the Marine Corps, who has been stationed at the Honolulu barracks for the past several months, has arrived at Mare Island, where he has reported for duty at the marine barracks.

Lieutenant Commander Daniel W. Wurtzbaugh, who made a host of friends when he was stationed on this coast before, has arrived from the Naval Academy, Annapolis, and reported for duty aboard the cruiser South Dakota. Lieutenant Commander Wurtzbaugh will be remembered as one of the officers advanced in rank for "eminent and conspicuous conduct in battle with the Peking relief column."

Lieutenant Daniel M. Gardner Jr. of the Marine Corps, who has been stationed at the Mare Island barracks since the withdrawal of the marine from the San Francisco naval training station, has left for the Bremerton navy yard, having been ordered north for duty.

WITHOUT NAME SHE SEEKS ONE

Frankfort Woman Tries to Discover Who She Is.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—A pathetic story comes from the city of Frankfort of a young woman who has no name and who is trying to discover who she is. In 1888 a woman holding the hand of a little girl of four entered a wine shop and begged the landlady to mind the little one a few minutes. The landlady agreed and the stranger left and never returned. The proprietress of the wine shop kept the little girl and reared it as her own. As she had no name she was called Alice. Years passed. When she reached the age of 16 her adopted mother married and moved. Thereafter there was no happiness for the girl, and she left home.

Also under the acquaintance of a workman and shared his life. A child was born, but it could not be recognized as the mother did not possess the necessary civil status. The young woman returned to her adopted mother, who knew the mystery of her birth, but the former saloonkeeper, in order to punish her for having left home, refused to reveal her identity. The young woman then addressed herself to the public prosecutor, who ordered an inquiry. It had no result. The former wine seller was summoned to court and invited to throw light on the affair. She was inexorable. Notwithstanding the tears of her adopted daughter and the entreaties of the magistrates, she refused to disclose her secret. That was her revenge! It was a very cruel revenge, for poor Alice fell ill and her baby died.

A few months ago the man, whose name is Schneider, with whom she lived, an employee on the State railway, desired to regularize his life with Alice by marrying her. Again the search was made for a name for Alice, which was indispensable. After a thousand formalities, she obtained the legal document necessary for her marriage. It sets forth that she is called Alice, that she is about 27 years of age, and that the date and place of her birth are unknown. It is probable that she will never know her real name, but that matters little, as she will now be called Mrs. Schneider.

The Tagblatt says the German government will submit to the Reichstag in the next session a bill for the formation of a German petroleum trust in order to prevent, through the disappearance of the ever-weakening Austro-American competition, the invasion of exclusively American companies upon the markets of this empire.

'GO EAST TO APPRECIATE CALIFORNIA' FATHER DEMPSEY RETURNS FROM TRIP

REV. E. P. DEMPSEY, rector of St. Mary's Church, who has returned from a visit to the eastern states.

Pastor of St. Mary's Full of Praise for Home State and Oakland's Possibilities

"A visit to the Eastern states only makes a Californian all the happier to be back home. I have never felt this more than this last time, when, in spite of a most delightful six weeks' tour of the East I find Oakland more delightful than ever."

Such is the expression of the Rev. Father E. P. Dempsey, rector of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Eighth and Jefferson streets. Father Dempsey left for the East early in July and has just returned to this city to resume his duties here.

MISERY OF THE POOR

"I'm afraid we people of California, and especially of Oakland, have no realization of just how blessed we are here in our wonderful climate. I left here during the first week of July to visit first, Chicago, and then to go on to Atlantic City, where from the 10th to the 17th of the month the Elks of the country, 30,000 in number, had their convention here, as always when I left, it was into that frigid heat of Chicago that I was plunged, where, of one night I saw 300 of the poor of the city sleeping in one of its streets, where the misery and discomfort seen on every side, especially in the lower quarters of the city, were enough to wring one's very heart. I thought then how little we out here in this glorious state appreciate its delights of climate and felt how much to be regretted it was that these poor unfortunate of the East cannot be made to realize that this section about the bay is an ideal summer climate, which should be boosted as it deserves to be from that point of view."

"This idea came recurring to me as I continued my trip," said Father Dempsey, in talking of his tour. "For after I had spent some five or six days in Chicago, chiefly in company with two very old friends of mine, Tip O'Neil, a Westerner like myself, and Conisbey, of the famous 'White Sox,' Chicago's boast of a ball team, I went on to Washington, D. C., where at various times I have done post-graduate work in the great institution of our Church, situated on the outskirts of that city. Several days there, spent watching the representatives of Congress in extra session assembled, wrestling with the intricacies of the REMARKABLE CONVENTION.

"That convention of the Elks of the country was one of the chief purposes of my trip, for I act as chaplain for the local members of that organization. And, really, that gathering was a remarkable one, with its representatives from over the entire country, 30,000 in number.

"There came the inevitable journey to New York City, and on up state to Niagara, through Syracuse and Rochester. One of the strongest impressions gained from that part of my trip was the predominance there of the factory of manufacturing concerns, which are completely lacking in the Middle and Far West. Here we out west are the great producers of the country, we represent the very backbone of the nation, as the producer always does. But that is not enough; we need manufactures, too. There is a certain solidity given to any section of the country by such enterprises, which we need here and which we shall have, too, I believe, with the opening of the Panama canal."

DEVELOPMENT OF WEST.

"That event is going to mean wonders for this country, far more than we have any conception of at the present time. It will bring here great commercial enterprises which will go away with the waste of energy and wealth experienced because we are forced to send the products of our mines and soil to the Eastern states, to that section bounded on the west, by St. Louis, to be gotten into shape for ultimate consumption, and then are obliged to pay the cost of transportation of those goods back again.

"With the opening of the canal we will have water competition with the rail transportation, and up to the present has monopolized the carrying trade. That will result in a saving of rates. And even more, when vessels from Europe land directly in our California ports, bearing the hundreds of immigrants who go into the crucible and form the backbone of our American citizens, we will have the foundation of an industrial class here which will take the wonderful natural resources of this West and make out of it one of the greatest and richest sections of the globe."

"I look to the future to bring marvelous developments, and we here on this continental side of the great San Francisco Bay, backed as we are by the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys, which could each support a population, in my estimation, of say 8,000,000 people, can look for a future for our city, and the surrounding territory of which we can scarcely even conceive at the present time. We are doing much to make the great possibilities of this section known in the East, but we should do more. We have possibilities here of which we can be justly proud, and we should have no hesitancy in making our greatness known as it deserves to be. Yes, I am glad to be back in Oakland, and glad to be a resident of this section of great promise."

GIVE AND TAKE.

"These men are of no use there," said Anderson. "There is absolutely no work for them. They should not be on the payroll. There should be some means of saving the city this money for their salaries."

"Should not the proper action be to suspend them?" suggested councilman Turner. "I would like an opinion of the council to discharge men under the civil service provisions of the new charter."

WOMEN IN THE NEWS

MARRYING NAT DEFENDS ASTOR

Declares Wealthy Man Has Right to Wed Whom He Chooses.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Nat C. Goodwin declared yesterday from the ripeness of experience that he had no sympathy with those who are gaining notoriety by attacking Col. John Jacob Astor, who, disregarding the admonition not to remarry by the court, is soon to take Miss Madeline Force as his bride.

Goodwin had just begun to "make up" for his matinee appearance when asked what he thought of the Astor-Force alliance.

"It is a piece of impertinence," he declared, viciously jabbing his round, happy face with grease paint groundwork, "for people to interfere with a man who is going down the outside of the mountain of life. He is not breaking the law of his country, is he?" Then why shouldn't he marry the girl if he wants to? This is merely a case wherein a lot of canting hypocrites would force a woman to live with a man wholly unsuited to her, or vice versa.

"Colonel Astor is conspicuous and wealthy and he has been divorced from his former wife. What's the matter with that—do not divorced men and women marry again every day? But then, perhaps it is, because they are not Astors."

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Colonel John Jacob Astor and Miss Madeline Talmage Force will probably be married on Saturday, Aug. 21, at yacht North and that the wedding is imminent was announced by a common friend of both families. Unusual activity in the Force residence added strength to the rumor. One feature of this activity was the arrival of a big trunk at the Force home. This trunk was taken to Miss Madeline's room on the second floor and evidences of it being hurriedly packed pointed to the early departure of the bride-elect.

That Colonel Astor has bestowed upon his bride-elect jewels to the value of a quarter of a million dollars was another interesting revelation that the day brought forth.

Miss Force's engagement ring alone is said to be worth $30,000. It was previously valued at $12,000, but that is now known to be far below its cost. The diamond in this ring is almost square and about 3/4 to 1/2 of an inch.

It is said that Colonel Astor has agreed to settle $2,000,000 on the bride-elect in lieu of her dower rights.

Beauty Woman's Ideal

By LILLIAN RUSSELL

(Copyright: 1911, By Lillian Russell.)

RECEIVED a letter the other day which has given me much food for thought. The writer, a woman, said that she thought I should be doing something higher and nobler than preaching the gospel of feminine beauty. She declared that almost every woman pays altogether too much attention to her body and not enough to her soul. She did not seem to realize that in making the body fine enough to contain the precious germ of immortality we were only paying back in gratitude the gift of a beneficial creator.

Isn't it about time that we got over that old Puritanic idea that anything that is beautiful, anything in which we enjoy is sinful? I am quite sure that we were never made to be otherwise than the perfect likenesses of the creator, who made us in His own image, and the beautiful physical woman is but the reflection of the correct mental woman.

THOUSANDS MAKE MERRY AT ELMHURST CARNIVAL

FETE OPENS IN BLAZE OF LIGHT

Streets of Carnival Town are Massed With Happy Visitors.

Sideshows crowded to capacity; Baby to rule in Parade.

ELMHURST, Aug. 18.—The Elmhurst carnival, marking the nineteenth anniversary of the founding of the town, opened last night with a blaze of variegated electric lights and showers of confetti.

At the last moment Mayor Frank K. Mott, who was to have presided over the key of the city to Queen Gertrude, notified the arrangements committee that it would be impossible for him to attend the opening ceremonies and Assemblyman Frank K. Smith was substituted, making the opening address and giving the key to her majesty.

The ceremonies were presided over by Bernhard Magnesson, chairman of the committee, who introduced the speakers and notably M. J. Laymance, an Oakland realty magnate, who recited the history of Elmhurst from its inception to the present day. Mayor Mott appeared on the scene later and addressed the large crowd gathered in the carnival grounds. Commissioner Harry Anderson also being a speaker.

MANY FUN MAKERS.

Following the opening ceremonies and speech making the grounds were turned over to the thousands of merry-makers who had gathered from every portion of the annexed district and surrounding towns to witness them. The Ferris wheel, merry-go-round, joy wheel and dancing pavilion presented a gay scene, hundreds taking part in the fun.

The innumerable concession booths were kept busy until a late hour catering to the crowds. Thousands marched up and down the main street between Nineteenth and Jones avenue and helped out the general carnival spirit, which will reign until Sunday night, when Queen Gertrude will cease to rule over her many loyal subjects.

district of Greater Oakland. I announced at the first Moss tract sale that the electric railroad company had decided to accept the gift of bonus and locate the new house and barn and head-quarters of the company's employees thereon, which was subsequently done.

It was announced that during the same week ground had been broken for the electric railroad and forty teams put to work on the grading.

thereafter each week until the middle of October, 1891, when on the 17th day of that month the Warner tract, which had been subdivided into 600 lots 100x150, and blocks of larger dimensions with the rest of the tract, was a school house, which thus now occupied, was placed on public sale. A free excursion by ferry and train from San Francisco and Oakland had been advertised beforehand. Between 500 and 600 persons boarded the special train at East Oakland and attended the sale, each one buying a free ticket to from Elmhurst station. In addition to the train a large number of busses and other conveyances were provided for passengers direct from Oakland.

This evening dancing will be indulged in the open air pavilion.

GAETIES TODAY.

This afternoon the festivities commenced with a baby show at the Foresters' Hall, when a baby was selected as ruler to take part in the grand parade scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, when the crowning of the queen will take place.

During this afternoon races between school children were pulled off over a course mapped out in the fair grounds. Another feature of the activities were addresses by various city officials and an acrobatic show by the Rodriguez family. This evening dancing will be indulged in the open air pavilion.

BUSINESS DISTRICT PROPHESIED.

"A large barbecue was provided on the tract and about 4000 persons were served at the lunch tables. The lots were sold on terms of $20 cash and $75 per month, installed bearing interest at 8 per cent per annum. The sales that day amounted to over $40,000. The last sale of the day was Block 14, which was put up impromptu and sold within fifteen minutes. In the published announcement of later sales in the Warner tract, which appeared in THE TRIBUNE of November 1891, it was stated that the Warner tract was undoubtedly destined to become the business center between Oakland and San Leandro, and you have today the positive verification before you of the fulfillment of that prediction.

"The power house at Elmhurst was completed early in 1892 and the improvement began. Never ceasing to expand, its people being always imbued

"Today is the twentieth anniversary of the first public sale of 50 of the 600 residence lots into which the Moss tract was subdivided. These lots had a frontage on Grand Avenue of 100 feet and a depth of 15 feet and were sold for $1500 to $2000, at prices ranging from $150 to $400 each. The terms of sale being $10 cash and $8 monthly installments, bearing interest at 8 per cent. The entire offering of 50 lots was sold on that date. The names of the buyers are of local historic interest at the present time, some of them having participated in the building up of this section of the country.

HOW TOWN WAS FOUNDED.

"The prime agent in the founding of Elmhurst was, however, the projected construction of the Oakland and San Leandro electric road and the plan to extend to Hayward, and the location of the company's power house and car barn on two acres of land owned by the M. J. Laymance company for the purpose of founding the town of Elmhurst and the subdivision of the Warner tract. These two acres and a cash bonus constituted the real nucleus of what is today Elmhurst.

SPOUSE STINGY, DECLARIES WIFE

Mrs. O. C. Crim Says She Gets But $20 Out of $5000 Monthly Income.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Notwithstanding the fact that she claims her spouse is in possession of more than $1,000,000 and in receipt of an income of $5000 monthly, Mrs. Ollie E. Crim testified in Judge Sturtevant's court today that she was given but $20 a month for the support of the family, that she was compelled to go to bed at 8:30 every night and that she was forced to do almost all the work in an eight-room house.

The husband, George S. Crim, a real estate dealer, who has a palatial home at 2350 Howard street, is contesting the action. The couple have been married for twenty-two years and have two grown daughters and a son aged fourteen. Mrs. Crim testified that her husband is cold, unsociable, sullen and defiant and that he broke up the privacy and quietude of their home by establishing his business in it. She alleges that for twenty years she cannot recall more than four instances yearly in which the family has retired later than 8:30 o'clock.

CAN'T RUN CITY ON VILLAGE BASIS
SAYS WILSONMayor Pleads for More Income to Carry Out Berkeley
Improvements.DEPARTMENTS OF CITY
CRAMPED FOR MONEYWould Have Large Tax Levy
if Place Would Rise to Destiny.

BERKELEY, Aug. 18.—That the city is practically without funds with which to operate many adjuncts to a modern government, and that higher tax rate is almost impossible, was recognized by Mayor John S. Wilson in a statement given out this morning before the city council met.

The council met to discuss the budget, and in connection with this Mayor Wilson outlined many of the needs of the departments. Mayor Wilson said in part: "I have been working upon the budget almost every day since I came to the city hall, and day after day the whole council has sat around my table and we have gone over every item of the city's expenditures. When we began in the various offices and bureaus, that we lay out first, our absolute necessities, and in an extra column such municipal requirements as are imperative for the proper conduct and administration of the city.

When we began to add up our totals to compute the sum with the expected receipts from the annual tax levy, we found that even the totals for absolute necessities had exceeded our expected receipts for the year by several thousand dollars.

NEEDS OF CITY.

"It is just exactly as I said in my first message the day I entered the city hall. You cannot run a city on a village tax rate. We can run the affairs of the city economically and with care in every department, but when the city is to be run, that is to say, lacking in every department, My predecessor was hampered just as I am. The police department needs extra equipment which we are not able to buy, and the balance must be purchased immediately. The fire department needs additional equipment. There are miles and miles of streets in Berkeley that cannot be拓ped out, and the city charter makes it difficult to do so, until the city charter makes adequate provision for legitimate expenditure. I think it is safe to say that there is a million dollars in the city hall at the present time that are not in the attention of the street department.

"Besides the largest part of the city, we are cramped at every turn for a due to the circumstances of the day. The fire commission is practically without funds. The charity commission must itself go begging like a mendicant. The park commission this year, which is composed of the park commissioners, is a mere municipal ornament for lack of funds.

"Necessary equipment and lighting for the office in the city hall has not been paid for, and you, the people of Berkeley might just as well become thoroughly acquainted with the fact that it is simply impossible for Berkeley to take care of its people, and that it ought to be, until the city charter makes adequate provision for legitimate expenditure. I think it is safe to say that there is a million dollars in the city hall at the present time that are not in the attention of the street department.

"Besides the largest part of the city, we are cramped at every turn for a due to the circumstances of the day. The fire commission is practically without funds. The charity commission must itself go begging like a mendicant. The park commission this year, which is composed of the park commissioners, is a mere municipal ornament for lack of funds.

WANTS CITY IMPROVED.

"No time should be lost. These years immediately preceding Panama-Pacific Exposition should be great years for the promotion of our city. The city commissioners and I entertain the hope that the citizens will rise to the occasion. Let us not growl about the past, or grow faint-hearted for the present, but let us plan for the future. Let us be a progressive program of genuine city improvement. The commissioner of public health and safety, Mr. C. Hoff, in charge of the fire and police departments, and the commissioners of public works, Mr. E. Turner, are educating the people to the needs of these departments. I expect that tomorrow morning, at the meeting of the commissioners, Turner will present in detail some of the needs of the street department, and they are very great. The members of the various commissions are well aware of our financial embarrassments, and present conditions, and it behoves every citizen of Berkeley who has the interest of the city at heart to study the actual conditions and become a co-worker in remedying them. Let us be a civic minded. We have the people. We have the wealth. Let us have the civic interest go forward."

PRAISES GOVERNMENT of Institution Were Never in Better Condition

BERKELEY, Aug. 18.—Declaring that the affairs of the California Institution for the deaf and the blind are in better condition than has ever been known, and urging a complete inquiry by Governor George W. Reed, president of the board of directors, appeared at this morning's session of the investigation and made a statement in behalf of the board of directors.

Reed urged Governor Johnson to look carefully into the present antiquated law under which the institution is governed, and he urged the hope that the citizens will rise to the occasion. Let us not growl about the past, or grow faint-hearted for the present, but let us plan for the future. Let us be a progressive program of genuine city improvement.

ARGUES FOR COMPLAINANTS.

Near the close of this morning's session, Attorney Charles Wesley Reed began his argument in behalf of the complainants. He admitted that the financial affairs of the schools had been well conducted, although the conditions of certain trust funds had not been regularly reported to the state. Reed questioned the legality of Principal Keith's appointment and of the pensioning of Waring Wilkinson out of the Durham

"He charged that the board of directors did not fully investigate before appointing a principal and did not consult retiring Principal Wilkinson.

Exception was taken by the attorney to the payment of salaries out of trust funds rather than out of appropriations and declared that there was no law for the appointment of a principal emeritus.

Reed continued his argument at this afternoon's session. Governor Johnson announced this morning his intention of closing the investigation today.

Reed stated that he believed it to be the interest of the institution that Principal Keith was appointed as he was the most competent available man to take hold of the management. There were many things of great importance he said which principals had to take hold of at that time, and Keith having been at the institution for so long was qualified to assume practical management.

"The only appointment I ever had any direct connection with," said Reed, "was that of my sister-in-law, Mrs. Etta Brown, who was given a place as assistant in the office of the institution, and my wife practically compelled me to obtain this place for her." Reed explained with a smile. "I simply asked Dr. Wilkinson if he could at any future time make use of his old school."

CHURCH TO MEET IN CONVENTION

German Catholic Federation to

San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—What promises to be the largest convention ever held by the order will be the seventh annual convention of the German Catholic Federation, which will be held at St. Anthony's church, Army and Folger streets, beginning August 20 to 30.

Priests and laymen from all sections of the state have been requested to be present. Archbishop Rorione and Bishop O'Connell are expected to attend.

It is planned to have an excursion to Fairfax following a business meeting on August 22.

The opening sermon of the convention will be preached by Rev. Father J. F. Schmidt of Most Holy Rosary church, Portland, Ore.

RUSH TO GET ON GREAT REGISTER

Indications That Figures for Coming Amendment Election
Will Exceed 62,000.

Registration for the constitutional amendment elector to be held October 10, continues heavy at the office of the county clerk, where deputies are busy taking records, changes of address and swearing new applicants.

Although no figures may be obtained at this time, it is asserted by those who have the records in their hands, odd numbers will be added to the 62,000 odd registrations of the county completed last spring.

There has been some confusion among voters who believed that it would be necessary for them to register again for the coming election, whereas all persons who registered within the last year are now entitled to vote through the procedure again, unless they have changed their address in the meantime.

CAPT. MADISON'S WIDOW TESTIFIES

Aged Woman Tells How She Saw Her Husband Shot Down.

The aged widow of the late Captain B. H. Madison, for whose murder August Borries is on trial, was on the witness stand about three-quarters of an hour late yesterday.

She testified that it had always been her custom to watch for Captain Madison when he returned home from San Francisco and greet him at the front door. She saw him coming on the day of the shooting and went into the hall to meet him as usual. As she drew near to the front entrance, she saw her husband scuffling with Borries and screamed for help. Then followed the pistol shot, which she could not easily distinguish, on account of her impaired hearing, and she saw her husband sink down upon his hands and knees. Borries dashed away from the house when he fired the fatal shot and the members of the household took care of his victim.

Mrs. Madison's cross-examination by Attorney Wyman consisted only of a few questions as to the position of her husband after he went down. Captain Madison, who was the Madison household at the time of the shooting, was the next witness. She said that she was upstairs in her room, when she heard Mrs. Madison's cry for help. She ran down stairs and found Captain Madison prostrate, with his wife bending over him. The servant did not hear or see any of the quarrel or the shooting, nor did she see Borries. She helped to get Captain Madison into bed. The cross-examination involved nothing of importance in the interest of the defense.

Among the other witnesses called during the afternoon were Martin J. M. Madison, son of the victim; Mary Wallen, a servant; and Charles A. Blenner, Walter F. Smiley, C. H. Farrell, Frank Mendoza, Charles J. Schilling and W. W. Haley Jr., members of the posse that captured Borries after the shooting and by which he was wounded in the leg. The trial was continued until Monday morning.

SOCIETY WOMEN VISIT CITY JAIL

Delegation From Oakland Club and Welfare League Examine Women's Quarters.

A committee of women representing the Oakland Club and the City's Welfare League, and other organizations, inspected the city prison this afternoon to investigate the conditions of the women's quarters, which it has been alleged, are unfit for human habitation. The committee consists of Mrs. Carrie Oney, chairman; Mrs. R. H. Chamberlain, Miss Bessie J. Wood, Mrs. Leon Hall and Mrs. W. S. Porter.

The full courtesy is being extended to the committee by Jailer John Fahey, under orders from Captain J. H. Lynch and Chief A. Wilson.

They were conducted through the jail and given an opportunity to inspect all portions of both the prison and the prison yard where the women are exercised. Mrs. Oney, following the tour of the jail, asked to be excused from at present giving any expression of opinion as to the findings of the committee. A mass meeting of women will be held Monday at which the subject will be discussed.

CHANGE IN AGE LIMIT
IS ALSO BROUGHT UP

Political Fight for Offices in Grand Aerie is Waxing
Warm.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Important sessions of the judiciary committee and the board of trustees of the Grand Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles were held yesterday at Eagles headquarters at the St. Francis. Weighty questions that will be issues at the Grand Aerie session in Eagles hall next Monday were discussed tentatively but final action was not taken.

The question of recognizing women's auxiliary clubs of the Eagles is giving the delegates considerable trouble. Assistant clubs have been organized in many aeries of the middle west and have formed an important adjunct to the social work of the order.

Mrs. Grace E. Arnold of Bartlesville, Okla., has started the campaign for recognition of the assistant clubs by the Grand Aerie.

Mrs. James Stewart of Chicago will be the personal representative of the women of Eagles at the Grand Aerie session and will be the recognized lobbyist. She will arrive from Chicago within the next day or two to take up her work.

Assistant clubs have been organized in cities of Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Illinois. The benefit of an auxiliary women's organization was made clear during the work preliminary to the present Grand Aerie session when the Ladies Auxiliary of San Francisco took up the social work in connection with the reception of Eagles and in preparing for the entertainment of the visiting guests and their ladies.

CHANGE IN AGE LIMIT.

Another question that the grand trustees discussed yesterday is that of changing the age limit for initiation into the order. At present applicants for admission must be 21 years of age, but there is a faction in the order that wishes to allow young men of 18 to be initiated.

The question of organizing Hawaiian aeries with Kanaka members is another question to be considered by the board of trustees.

"Big Tim" Sullivan, the New York Congressman, who was expected to be present at the Grand Aerie session, will not be there, according to an announcement made last night by John W. Considine, his business partner, who arrived from Los Angeles.

In place of Sullivan, the state of the order committee, Thomas J. Condin, one of the founders of the Eagles, will be named as soon as he arrives from Seattle.

Members of the Grand Aerie of the Eagles who assisted the San Francisco boosters at Washington in their fight to get Congressional endorsement for the exposition, will today meet the exposition directors at the St. Francis. Arrangements for the meeting will be made by Edward Hirsch of the Grand Aerie and Thornwell Mullally of the exposition board of directors at 10 o'clock this morning.

FIGHT WAXES WARM.

The political fight for offices in the Grand Aerie is waxing warm. Workers for Frank E. Herring of South Bend, Indiana, made a master stroke at Stockton when 100 past worthy presidents endorsed the Indiana man's candidacy for president against J. J. Cusack, the San Francisco aspirant. J. J. Cusack, an accredited delegate from San Francisco, No. 5, was one of those endorsing Herring. Cusack supporters will attempt to get an endorsement of the San Francisco man from the aerie that sent Newbert to the Grand Aerie at a meeting to be held tonight. It is believed this will be a difficult matter as Martin Welch, worthy president of No. 5, is a Herring supporter.

The following major committees of the Grand Aerie are in session at the St. Francis, with practically a full membership present:

Committee on Credentials—J. W. Eggman, chairman, Fort Wayne Aerie, No. 248, Fort Wayne, Ind.; J. T. Bohl, Stamford Aerie, No. 579, Stamford, Conn.; Edward Dakin, Syracuse Aerie, No. 53, Syracuse, N. Y.; John W. Carson, Revere Aerie, No. 731, Revere, Mass.; James F. Kelley, Cleveland Aerie, No. 735, Cleveland, O.

Committee on Grievances and Appeals—Earl Rogers, chairman, Los Angeles Aerie, No. 102, Los Angeles, Calif.; H. E. Nuzum, Spokane Aerie, No. 2, Spokane, Wash.; Charles F. O'Malley, Scranton Aerie, No. 314, Scranton, Pa.; Fletcher M. Noe, Indianapolis Aerie, No. 211, Indianapolis, Ind.; Fred C. Neave, Davenport Aerie, No. 236, Davenport, Ia.

I.; E. B. Gibbons, Detroit Aerie, No. 32, Detroit, Mich.; B. F. McGinty, Chicago Aerie, No. 19, Chicago, Ill.

Committee on State of the Order—Theodore A. Bell, chairman, Crocker building, San Francisco; John F. Peletier, Cherry street, near Eleventh, Kaisas City, Mo.; Del C. Smith, Spokane, Wash.; Timothy D. Sullivan, New York City; H. H. Thompson, Atlanta, Wash.

CARPENTER INJURED BY

THERE WAS NONE TO TIE THE KNOT

Wedding Delayed Because
Clergy, Judges and Justices
Were on Vacation.

REDDING, Aug. 18.—After journeying 55 miles by stage from Harrison Gulch to Redding to be married, William G. Whorf Jr. of Oakland and Miss Hattie Shelton, a graduate of a business college in Oakland, found yesterday after getting their license that there was no clergyman, no justice of the peace and no superior judge in Redmond to marry them.

They took several hours to make the discovery that all of the judges and clergymen were off on their vacations and none would be back until Monday. So disappointed was the bride-to-be she was really ill and had to take to her bed. She felt well enough last evening to take the night train with her intended to Red Bluff. There they are assured there is a safe supply of preachers and judges.

The bridegroom, William G. Whorf, is a son of William G. Whorf Sr. of Oakland. He is chief engineer of the Midway at Harrison Gulch and was allowed only four days for his wedding and to return to his post.

The prospective bride came to Redding a few days in advance. She is a woman of remarkable beauty. She is a daughter of Mrs. Ellen Shelton of Harrison Gulch.

Following are the rates fixed this morning for the five districts:

SAN FRANCISCO SOCIETY

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—The arrival of Governor Eugene Foss and Mrs. Foss from Massachusetts tomorrow will be the incentive for a round of entertainments that are being planned in their honor.

The Misses Helen and Esther Foss, Mrs. Foss' mother and Howard Sturman are accompanying them in their private car. They will stay at the Fairmont Hotel.

Tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. William Chapman will give a dinner in compliment to the Foss family.

Several of their relatives and intimate friends have been bidden to the affair Monday. Mr. Chapman will make Governor Foss the honored guest at a large luncheon at the Pacific Union Club.

At the same time Miss Dorothy will be entertaining the members of her bridal party at her home on Pacific avenue and Benjamin Foss will have the ushers as his guests at a luncheon at the University Club.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Sherwood will preside at a dinner also on Monday for the Fosses.

Tuesday evening they will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Tubbs, who are responsible for young Mr. Foss' first visit to the coast.

With several less formal entertainments fitting in between, as well as the rehearsals for the wedding party, it is not difficult to conjecture that Miss Chapman is quite the busiest young woman in San Francisco.

Although the visit of the Foss party is occasioned by a thoroughly personal matter, the prominence of Governor Foss will insure a number of more or less public demonstrations in his honor.

The Fosses will remain here only a few days longer than the all-important event next Wednesday, when their son will claim Miss Chapman as his bride.

The engagement of Miss Rebecca de Mendes Kruttschnitt and Henry Clifford Woodhouse is the latest bit of news to find favor with the smart set.

Miss Kruttschnitt is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kruttschnitt, who now consider Chicago their home. Heretofore they lived in San Francisco, and one of the most attractive houses in Burlingame was their country place.

Mr. Woodhouse is an Englishman, who lives in Montreal. He won his spurs in her majesty's service during the Boer war.

The Kruttschnitts' last visit to San Francisco was in 1905, when they stopped at the Fairmont Hotel. They entertained at several large affairs there, though Miss Rebecca prefers the more serious side of life. She is greatly interested in philanthropy and has taken an active part in settlement work.

Formerly she was a reception girl by Mrs. Harriet Miller at her home in Santa Barbara, where the Kruttschnitts are visiting.

Several San Franciscans were at the affair and had an opportunity of congratulating Mr. Woodhouse on having won this most charming girl.

It is most probable that Mr. and Mrs. Kruttschnitt will be married later in the month for a short stay.

Miss Kruttschnitt is a sister of Julius Kruttschnitt Jr., who married Miss Maude Pickering.

MILL VALLEY HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE

MILL VALLEY, Aug. 18.—The residence of Mrs. John Vincent Coates, located at Sunnyside avenue and Hill street, was destroyed by fire early this morning. Had it not been for the heroism of William Christian, an engineer on the Northwestern Pacific, Mrs. Christie, with her two young children—Irene, aged 12, and Olive, aged 7—would have perished in the flames.

It is given only a solitary law officer and a stenographer, Dr. Wiley promised the public investigating committee to enforce the pure food laws as efficiently and at one-hundred cost now incurred by Solicitor McCabe in the same work.

Dr. Wiley, who had been asked how he would settle the internal warfare in the Department of Agriculture, said:

"I took up the experiments with borax first to get experience for what I considered more important experiments. I did not think it was harmful when I began."

He had been asked how he would settle the internal warfare in the Department of Agriculture.

Secretary Wilson will testify.

A pretty wedding was solemnized last night when Miss Mabel Caption became the bride of Davis Wallace Noel at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. William Dalziel.

Rev. Albert Palmer performed the wedding service before half a hundred invited guests. A pretty arrangement of pink and green blossoms was used in the decorative scheme. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Caption of Piedmont.

After the honeymoon, the young couple will make their future home in Berkeley.

Army Aviation Expert Plays Tennis With Cupid

MANSFIELD, O., Aug. 18.—The engagement of Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm of the Seventh United States cavalry, widely known army aeronautics expert, and Miss Gertrude Jenner, one of the oldest families of this city, is announced. The wedding will be a military affair at the Jenner home, October 19. The engagement is a romance of the tennis courts at the West Brook Country Club, where, during the last month the couple played daily, the lieutenant being home on a furlough. Miss Jenner is a graduate of Oberlin and Vassar Colleges. For the past few months Lieutenant Lahm has been instructor in the cavalry school at Fort Riley, Kansas.

Rush of Homeseekers to California This Fall

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Preparations are being made by western railroads to handle an unprecedented movement of land-seekers to the Pacific Coast states this fall. Special colonists' rates are in effect from September 15 to October 15. These rates are usually made twice a year—in the spring and in the fall—and range from $33 from Chicago to $25 from the Missouri river for one-way trips. During the colonist movement in the spring nearly 90,000 people were carried to the Pacific Coast, according to estimates. Present prospects are that the movement this fall will even exceed that number.

Steel King 'Cleaned' of $140,000 at Atlantic City

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The story of an Atlantic City gambling game in which an unnamed "steel king" lost $140,000 in one lump, is told by Mrs. Anna Betts, in connection with her suit manipulated a roulette wheel.

against her husband, Louis L. Betts, for a separation and $25,000 a year alimony. It is said that he was robbed by the electrical devices which

Camorrist Washes Shirt Almost Naked in Court

VITERBO, Aug. 18.—Giavanni Berlizzi, one of the accused Camorristi who for weeks while caged in the courtroom was being weaved an elaborate design over the bars near his seat with strips of cloth, found they had been taken off yesterday afternoon. He became furious and finally fell in a fit. When he recovered he took off his coat and shirt and tore them to pieces and remained for the rest of the session nearly naked.

With several less formal entertainments fitting in between, as well as the rehearsals for the wedding party, it is not difficult to conjecture that Miss Chapman is quite the busiest young woman in San Francisco.

Although the visit of the Foss party is occasioned by a thoroughly personal matter, the prominence of Governor Foss will insure a number of more or less public demonstrations in his honor.

"Nothing Succeeds Like Success"

And what a glowing example THE BOYS' SHOP is of the truth of that statement. Starting out with a whole-some idea of merchandising, this store was almost an immediate success. That inspiration, and the fruits of that success enables us each season to do still greater things in the way of store service, higher efficiency and superior quality until today this store stands for the ultimate expression of what a Boys' Specialty House should be. Mothers who wish more style, better quality and bigger values should be sure and give us a trial. You'll be very much surprised at the contrast between the Boys' Shop and the ordinary clothing stores.

Ask to see the new Fall Models in little Russian Suits. They are the prettiest and cutest you ever saw.

EFFICIENCY TESTS GUARD LIVES OF TOURISTS

Southern Pacific Employees Required to Watch Carefully Danger Signal.

SHERIDAN FINDS DOG THAT PATROLS TRACK

Knows Difference Between Red and Green and Alarms Stationmaster.

A dog tell green from red when displayed on a switch alongside the track of a railroad, and can it learn the significance and importance of the green and red signals as applied to railroading? H. W. Sheridan, superintendent of the engineering division of the Southern Pacific company, says that it can, and Sheridan has a mass of evidence to prove his assertion.

Sheridan secured his evidence recently while conducting an efficiency test about 100 miles west of Sacramento, Calif. With several assistants he changed the light on one of the switches from green to red, then waited to see if the crew of the next train would observe the wrong light and stop the train before it reached the switch.

The dog began to bark as soon as the red light was shown in place of the green, ran to the signal for seven minutes and then to the station of the section foreman, a half mile away. Shortly after the foreman appeared with a lantern and shotgun, led by the dog, and Sheridan and his assistants had a friendly time in explaining the red light to the satisfaction of both the dog and its master.

KEEPS CREW ALERT.

These efficiency tests are conducted throughout the year for the purpose of keeping train and engineers on the alert. At one crew had to over the same line day after day without any signal to common with other mortals, are likely to become careless and fail to observe a danger signal at a critical moment. Such an error is fraught with danger that makes one wonder if the lives of a hundred lives might be snuffed out in the twinkling of an eye should a train or engineman fail to observe a signal.

The Southern Pacific company has 21 efficiency tests, ranging from the changing of the color of signal lights, and extinguishing lights entirely to placing a dog on a switch on the track. Failure to observe any of these signals means most severe discipline for the offender. Last year the Southern Pacific made 7026 of these tests and only in 11 cases did the crew fail to observe the signals giving a percentage of 99.42 percent perfect.

The dog that caused Sheridan's temporary discomfiture, knows the significance of each light according to the section foreman owning it, and walks a certain stretch of track every day with its master. It is possible that the animal could be sent out along the track and would be competent to set a light out altogether, or at least the wrong one burning.

GOVERNORS PLAN FALL CONFERENCE

Johnson Unable to be President Owing to Election.

SPRING LAKE, N. J., Aug. 18.—Plans for the national conference of governors to be held here September 12 are going rapidly forward under the direction of Governor Woodrow Wilson, chairman of the program committee. The governors of thirty-five states will attend.

Last year there were too many social doings and Governor Wilson will see to it this year that most of the time is devoted to business. The set speeches of the meeting will be by Governors Dix of New York, Foss of Massachusetts, Wilson of Kentucky, Morris of Montana, Aldrich of Nebraska, and Carey of Wyoming.

Among the seven declinations received so far are two from progressive Republicans. They are Governor Johnson of California, who will be busy arguing in favor of constitutional amendments before the people of his State, and Governor Eberhart of Minnesota, who also is too busy to get away. Governor Harmon of Ohio, who is supposed to be the Democratic presidential rival for the Democratic nomination, has not yet said definitely what he will do, but is expected to be present. President Taft may also come.

POLICEMEN TO READ POETRY AS A TONIC

VENICE, Cal., Aug. 18.—Poetry as an aid to policemen will be tried by the police department here with a view to making the policemen brighter, more alert, as well as raising the educational standard.

Police Sergeant Cavanagh is responsible for this idea in mental gymnastics. He says:

"The thoughts of a great poet are good things to begin the day with. A few minutes with one of the great minds every morning stirs up new thoughts and prevents a fellow from falling into a rut and yielding to mental sluggishness. This is no new fangled idea, either, but one that is recognized by the best authorities on training for men in all occupations that deal with the public. To be sure, I cannot make the boys take up this idea if they object, but I can offer them the logic of it and the example."

STEAMER AND ICEBERG COLLIDE, SAYS WIRELESS

BOSTON, Aug. 17.—Information tending to show that the steamer Saturnia, Montreal for Glasgow, had been in collision with an iceberg 175 miles east of Belle Isle Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock was picked up in a wireless message in this city last night.

The message was going from the marine station at Wellfleet, Mass., to the steamer Cassandra, Glasgow for Montreal, and read as follows: "Please advise for other stations to relay to the Cassandra. It is stated that the Saturnia had struck the berg, but was proceeding and requested the Cassandra to communicate with the Saturnia."

ACCUSED OF STEALING.

E. Chamberlain of Clinton, Me., has been indicted for the offense of stealing—the sting from burns or sores—the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from boils or piles. "It robs cuts, corns, bruises, sprains and injuries of their terror," he says, "as a healing remedy their equal don't exist." Only 25¢ at Osgood Bros.

ALLEGED HEAD OF ARSON TRUST IS JAILED

David Korshack, Accused Incendiary, is Arrested in Vancouver, B. C.

PRISONER ACCUSED IN DEAD MAN'S CONFESSION

Swindler Said Setting Fires to Collect Insurance Has Become a Business.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Word was received by the Chicago police today of the arrest at Vancouver, B. C., of David Korshack, who was named as the head of an alleged "arson trust" in a confession made to Fire Attorney Sullivan and the police by Leopold Dreyfus, president of L. Dreyfus & Company, wholesale clothiers, who afterward committed suicide by shooting.

Leopold Dreyfus and his brother, Lazard Dreyfus, were arrested following an incendiary fire that partly destroyed the company's store June 3. They were questioned by the police for hours when Leopold broke down and made a written confession in which he admitted that the fire was incendiary. He accused Korshack of being the head of an "arson trust," which made a business of setting fire to buildings so that the owners might recover the insurance.

After making the confession Leopold Dreyfus was allowed to visit his home on the South Side, accompanied by a detective. While the detective was in an adjoining room, Dreyfus shot himself.

Lazard Dreyfus and Korshack have been charged with arson to defraud and conspiracy to do an illegal act.

The police have been searching for Korshack ever since. He will be brought to Chicago.

To meet the legal requirements of such a contingency

the Southern Pacific company has 21 efficiency tests, ranging from the changing of the color of signal lights, and extinguishing lights entirely to placing a dog on a switch on the track. Failure to observe any of these signals means most severe discipline for the offender.

Last year the Southern Pacific made 7026 of these tests and only in 11 cases did the crew fail to observe the signals giving a percentage of 99.42 percent perfect.
